WELCOME TO CROTON POINT PARK!

Here two of the state's most treasured resources come together: the Hudson River, and Westchester County Parks. The Hudson has been called "the landscape that defined America." Westchester County is a major part of that landscape—in fact, it has more acreage in parks than any other county in the U.S.A. The Kitchawane native people called this place of quiet beauty Senasqua Navish - grassy point - centuries before Henry Hudson's arrival almost 400 years ago.

This weekend, as we have for more than thirty years, we celebrate Clearwater and its accomplishments, in the context of a free flow of ideas, of people coming together to share joy and concern for our neighbors upriver and down, for the life around us and within us.

We celebrate our many victories in cleaning the water, clearing the air, preserving habitat, and creating a quality of life that is cherished by all of us. We celebrate the simple fact that we all agree on one thing: the environment is our life-support system, and must be protected for the sake of our children, and their children.

Please enjoy this day and this wonderful place, as our cherished guests.

CLEARWATER EDUCATION DEPARTMENT WHERE LEARNING LIVES!

HEY YOU!

Sorry to be so rude, but there are a lot of people here at the park today, and it's hard to hear over all the great music. You looked like maybe you were new to this whole "Clearwater Thing," and I thought you'd like a little introduction to the "educational aspects" of Clearwater. Wait! Don't cringe at the thought of homework, pop quizzes, and number two pencils! I'm talking about some of the most amazing things in the world here in your own extended backyard—the Hudson River!

Almost every day from April to November, up to 100 people of all ages and walks of life cross the decks of the Clearwater, haul up the 3000 pound mainsail, and launch into the world of the Hudson River Sloop Clearwater. Some of our passengers are old hands, veterans of 3 decades of Clearwater on the Hudson. Most are students from all over the watershed, perhaps experiencing the river, their river, for the first time in their lives. Many of our guests come on board for the first time with uncertain glances at the old-school rigging and stalwart (yet friendly!) crew, but leave with smiles, a promise to come back, and one heck of an appreciation for the Hudson River.

The original Hudson River sloop was an amazingly effective mode of transportation 200 years ago; It is equally successful as an educational platform in the 21st century. Nets, aquaria, and microscopes let students examine the finned and shelled residents of river, from tiny copepods to a big old bass, before respectively releasing our wild guests back into their habitat. A variety of water monitoring equipment allows us to study the health and environmental issues affecting the estuary, from acid rain to zebra mussels. A turn on the tiller during a Hudson River Jibe is a memorable experience for anyone, and the thrill of steering is augmented by the skills of navigation and seamanship.

All of our programs are run by professional environmental educators and crew, assisted by trained volunteers. The activities and subject matter blend the crucial aspects of hands-on, tactile experiences with current academic learning standards. We tailor our programs to fit the needs of each group that comes on board, but a common thread runs throughout: Respect for the river and all of the living creatures that live here, especially each other.

What I've described so far is one part of what Clearwater's education department is involved in. Here are a few of the many more ways Clearwater Education is reaching out:

We estimate that about 15,000 people crossed the decks of Clearwater's education programs last year. Since 1969, well over 300,000 folks have sailed on the Clearwater.

Because of high demand for spring season field trips, the Clearwater is joined each April and May by the Schooner Mystic Whaler, extending our outreach and education to thousands of students. Clearwater's On-Land Discovery Program, based at the Esopus Meadows Environmental Center in Ulster County, brings kids down to the tide-line and into the world of estuary exploration. Field trips followed up by classroom visits keep the river connection flowing.

Clearwater needs volunteers! Each week, six people, veterans and novices alike, come aboard the sloop as volunteers. Their energy and passion has helped grow the Clearwater family throughout the region and the world.

Each summer Clearwater's Urban Outreach Program provides extended live-aboard experiences for teenagers from New York City and other urban areas. Students from a wide diversity of

Education and FUN at the Clearwater Discovery Tent

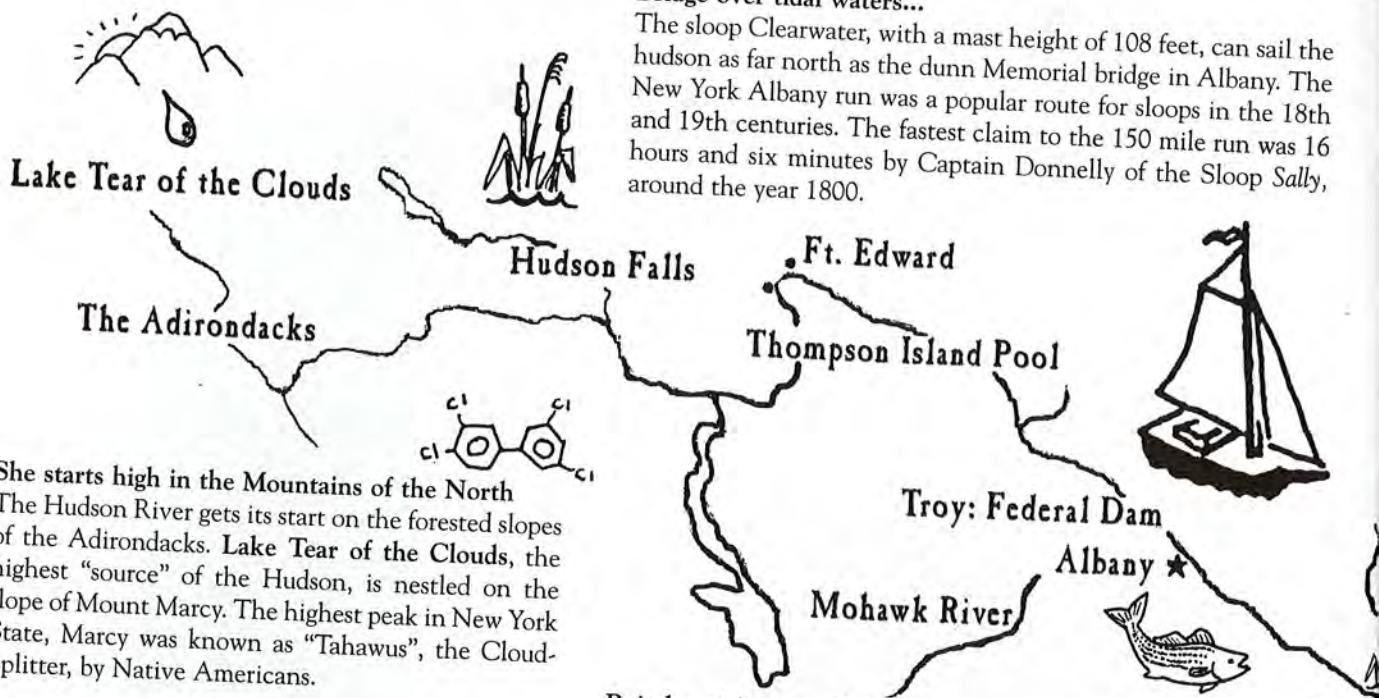

In the arena of environmental education, the Hudson River is an award-winning symphony. Not quite textbook river, not quite sea, the Hudson River Estuary supports an astounding diversity of species, habitats, and cultures. We invite you to explore them today at the Clearwater Discovery Tent.

You just gotta check out the fish tanks! We'll have several large aquariums set up with a variety of habitats represented from saltwater to fresh. Hudson Basin Riverwatch will be presenting invertebrates up close and personal, while the New York department of Environmental will exhibit several models of the estuaries delightful denizens. There will be a beautiful six-foot model of the sloop on display, examples of classic Hudson River Paintings, and an exhibit on African-American history in the Hudson Valley. The erosion tank invites you to make a muddy mess, while a hands-on beach-combing table entertains the little ones in your crew. Check the activities board for daily fishing trips, nature hikes, knot workshops, and tank talks. As always, volunteer educators will be on hand to help out.

Knowledge is more than just information-- the key is understanding how that information fits into the larger, beautifully complex whole. At Clearwater, this means involving all of our senses. To put it another way, a writer friend of mine told me that he strives to „Show people what I,m trying to say, not just tell them.‰ We don,t claim to know all the answers, but we look forward to delving into the questions with you.

Thanks for taking the time to visit Revival. Re-apply often. Stay hydrated. Ask a ton of questions, and explore to your heart,s content. See you at the Discovery Tent!

THE HUDSON RIVER AT A GLANCE

Bridge over tidal waters...

The sloop Clearwater, with a mast height of 108 feet, can sail the Hudson as far north as the Dunn Memorial bridge in Albany. The New York Albany run was a popular route for sloops in the 18th and 19th centuries. The fastest claim to the 150 mile run was 16 hours and six minutes by Captain Donnelly of the Sloop Sally, around the year 1800.

She starts high in the Mountains of the North

The Hudson River gets its start on the forested slopes of the Adirondacks. Lake Tear of the Clouds, the highest "source" of the Hudson, is nestled on the slope of Mount Marcy. The highest peak in New York State, Marcy was known as "Tahawus", the Cloud-Splitter, by Native Americans.

What you can't see can hurt you...

The beautiful north country is the home of two General Electric plants at Hudson Falls and Ft. Edward, from which an estimated 1.3 million lbs. of toxic PCBs were dumped into the river from 1947 - 1977. The scenic Thompson Island Pool has especially high concentrations of PCBs in its sediments. Every year approximately 500 lbs. of PCBs wash over the Federal Dam at Troy. This year EPA finally announced plans to clean up 40 targeted hot spots from the Upper Hudson.

'Tis the Season to be Salty

Part of a tidal estuary's beauty is the mixing of fresh water from rain and tributaries with salty sea-water. The salt front, a zone of transition between brackish water and fresh water, can be as far south as Manhattan after a strong spring thaw, or reach almost to Poughkeepsie in a serious summer drought. As the lower estuary's salinity changes with the seasons, so does the diversity of the residents in a particular area. Visit Clearwater's Discovery tent to see several different habitat aquariums.

Hudson River National Estuarine Research Reserve (HRNERR)

Has created wildlife sanctuaries at these sites:

- Stockport Flats
- Iona Island
- Tivoli Bays
- Piermont Marsh
- Constitution Marsh

Reindustrialization of the River

Olana is the electric home of the Hudson River 19th century painter, Frederick Church. Just east of Olana, St. Lawrence cement plans to build a 220 acre cement mine and manufacturing plant. Blasting from the mine operation could shake the foundations of recently restored buildings in Hudson.

Across the river at Athens is the site of PG&E's power plant, one of the 12 proposed for the Hudson Valley. While the Athens plant will have a "dry" cooling system which reduces water usage and fish kills, the site includes wetlands and is within Olana's protected view shed.

Esopus Meadows Marvell

The Esopus Meadows environmental center (EMEC, for Short) in Ulster County is the site of Clearwater's On-Land Discovery Program. Each year, students and visitors explore the shoreline and forest trails here. Please come by and see this beautiful park for yourself!

Deep Reasons for Shallow Waters

Nautical charts of the Hudson reveal shallow reaches and coves between Poughkeepsie and Albany. These shoal areas are crucial spawning habitats for many fish species, including striped bass, sturgeon, and shad.

With a main-stem river 315 miles long and an area more than 13,000 square miles, the Hudson River Watershed is the home of diverse creatures, cultures, beauties, and problems. These pages outline some of the remarkable and infamous aspects of the Hudson River. But it's just the beginning! While you're at the revival festival, visit Clearwater's discovery tent to stock up on Hudson River lore, or get up close and friendly to some of the Hudson inhabitants. Next door you can delve into the most recent environmental issues and assure our river's recovery continues at the Environmental Action Tent.

Gate to the Highlands

The Hudson Highlands, where the river cleaves the Appalachian Mountains, is a realm of superlatives, including the deepest point of the river at over 200 feet. In 1912, the Catskill Aqueduct, an immense tunnel 1100 feet under the river's surface between Storm King and breakneck Ridge, was completed by men, mules, and machinery to supply New York City with water from the Ashokan Reservoir.

Tappan Zee Two

A new bridge being proposed to allow repair or replacement of the Tappan Zee Bridge. Area residents are proposing transportation efficiency strategies, such as car and van pools, and bus services to an elevator-fed Metro-North station.

Crustacean Crisis

Unprecedented lobster die-off in 1999 and 2000 caused great alarm in local lobster man in western Long Island Sound. research underway points to protozan parasites. But questions remain as to what environmental factors weakened the lobster's immunities in the first place?

Waterfront Revitalization

Hasting's shoreline is constructed of fill that was contaminated with PCBs and other toxins by an aluminum plant years ago. A visionary waterfront revitalization plan created by an active public participation process calls for a high level of remediation of this brownfield site.

An Underwater Melting Pot...

New York harbor is full of surprises. Sharks were a common site back when food and animal wastes were dumped straight into the harbor. Many people are surprised to learn that seahorses, lobster, sea-stars, and horseshoe crabs live along the bottom of the Harbor. Occasionally warmer water residents such as crevaille-jack and butterfly fish are swept north by the Gulf Stream and end up in the nets of New Yorkers.

The Harbor melting pot is also filled with a potpourri of chemicals: lead, cadmium, mercury and other heavy metals, PCBs from up river and local sources, dioxin from an old agent orange factory in New Jersey, to name a few. Hosted by the NY Academy of science the NY/NJ estuary Consortium is mapping the problem and developing strategies to reduce the pollution.

Power Alley
Rockland county alone has four proposed power plants: two in the Tonne Valley and two along the river. Energy conservation and the use of renewables such as solar, wind, biofuels and fuel cells are a wiser investment of resources.

You Say Oysters, I Say...

Recent mapping of the river bottom has revealed oyster reefs spanning parts of Haverstraw Bay and the Tappan Zee. Croton Point Park contains gigantic refuse piles of oysters eaten by the Native Americans who treasured the tasty mollusks. Although the last few centuries have seen the near-extinction of the Hudson River oyster, efforts by the NY/NJ Baykeeper are underway to re-establish a population in New York Harbor.

composed by
PETE SEEGER
PAUL DUBOIS JACOBS

Folk icon Pete Seeger carries on the storytelling tradition by teaching parents old and new classics to pass on to their children

"The eminent American folk singer and storyteller, and a young collaborator, retell some old stories, invent some new ones and advise parents and grandparents on some storytelling techniques. Wonderful fun for everyone."
—The New York Times Book Review

"Seeger brings to storytelling the same simplicity, pacifism and irresistible zest that mark some of his most memorable songs."
—The Seattle Times

"Though Pete Seeger is celebrated as 'America's Tuning Fork,' . . . he is a masterly storyteller. In this endearing book he transmutes classic folk tales into today's idioms and they become stories born again. A lovely book for the elders as well as for the young."

CLEARWATER EDUCATION

backgrounds spend one week to two months as integral parts of the Clearwater community.

Another aspect of the Urban Outreach Program has enabled our educators to bring in-class presentations to schools and community groups throughout New York City and the Hudson River Watershed

The Christopher Stutler Scholarship teams up high school students from here in Croton-Harmon with an elementary school class in Yonkers. Through class room programs and ship-board experiences, the Scholarship builds future bridges in mentoring and stewardship.

Later this month, Clearwater will be working with 35 teenagers from Westchester county during our three-day Young Women at the Helm Program. We're also collaborating with the Lettie G. Howard to host a three-day overnight sail with the Darrow School from Columbia County. Extended programs allow us to take a closer look at the ecology and science of the river, as well as strengthen the importance of cooperation in any community.

There's a lot of learning out there! Clearwater produces and supplies lesson packets, books, slide shows, field guides, recordings, videos, posters, maps....phew! (My personal favorite is Clearwater's Key to H.R. Fishes. Don't get wet without one!)

Dozens of festivals and concerts, including the Revival, take place along the Hudson's shores each year. Clearwater and local affiliations called "Sloop Clubs" exhibit displays and information so that the festival goers can see what Clearwater is all about. Several of the Sloop Clubs also operate smaller sailboats, such as the Soujourner Truth and Woody Guthrie for educational purposes.

The sloop itself is an amazing replica of multi-purpose vessels of the 1800's. They say form fits function, and every traditional aspect of the sloop, from the huge mainsail to her shallow draft, were shaped by the forces of culture, economy, and the river itself.

MIKE MANN, 1940-2001

Mike Mann, head of the Brooklyn-Queens Sloop Club for over twenty-four years, died on March 12. Born and bred in Brooklyn, Mike was a member of the Clearwater board of directors in the 1970's, and pioneered the Brooklyn Historic Quest Trail. He is survived by his widow, Marcia Kaplan-Mann, and their cat Skylar. Memorials should go to the Second Boat Fund for Clearwater.

Alive All Year at the
WALKABOUT
COFFEEHOUSE....

Walkabout Clearwater is a land-locked sloop club known for its people's chorus as well as its seven-foot-tall model of the Hudson River Sloop Clearwater. The model goes where the real ship can't, and every year, from October through May, it docks at The Harvey School in Katonah, New York, for Walkabout Clearwater's monthly coffeehouse concert series.

The Coffeehouse's "circle of song" includes top performers, pre-concert singalongs, and refreshments. (Not to mention collectible mugs!) Plus, there's literature and displays from environmental organizations, activist groups, and other folk music and folk arts venues. Just like the Revival, it's a chance to see old friends, meet new ones, and listen to great music — and, best of all, it lasts all year long!

The 2001-2002 season — our 14th — will get off on the right foot in October with the toe-tapping melodies of JAY UNGAR & MOLLY MASON. Block in your calendar now for the second Saturday of the month, and plan on joining us in Katonah.

Send in the form below to add your name to our twice-yearly mailing list. The fall brochure will be out at the end of the summer. Remember, our profits go to support the work of the Hudson River Sloop Clearwater.

Julie Wegner is a pianist with a commitment to making classical music more accessible to the community. She would like people to enjoy classical music in a casual, friendly setting, surrounded by the beauty of nature. To do this she has mounted an acoustic piano on a flatbed trailer which is towed behind her car. During Revival, she will bring her "Piano a la Cart" to the Activist Area where you can hear her play selections from Mozart, Haydn, Chopin, Schubert and Beethoven. She performs regularly in the Hudson Valley and teaches piano in her studio in New Paltz and at Dutchess County Community College.

DAVID ANDERSON/SANKOFA

Akwaaba, the Heritage Associates, presents historical reenactments to complement Underground Railroad tours. David Anderson/Sankofa is the group's Program Director and chair of the Rochester-Monroe County Freedom Trail Commission. This commission works to make the story of the Underground Railroad freedom movement more accessible. David is a charter board member of the United States Colored Troops Institute for Local and Family Research. In year 2000, he directed the 18th Annual National Black Storytelling Festival and Conference. He is author of three books, and has a Ph.D. in Educational Administration from Union Institute, Cincinnati. He has been recognized for his contribution to the arts by the Rochester Metro Chamber of Commerce and the Arts & Cultural Council of Greater Rochester.

ARDOIN FAMILY BAND

With 20-year old Dexter Ardoin on vocals and accordion, his father Morris Ardoin on guitar and fiddle, and Dennis Stroughmatt on fiddle and vocals, the Ardoin Family Band, based in Eunice, Louisiana, has a long tradition in the roots of modern Cajun, African Creole and Zydeco Music. Amede Ardoin (a cousin of Dexter and Morris) recorded Cajun and Creole music in the 1920s and gave other Louisiana musicians the basis for the many styles of French music heard today. Morris's father, accordionist Alphonse Ardoin, known as "Bois Sec", received countless awards from the Center for Traditional Arts, the Smithsonian Institute, the Louisiana Hall of Fame, and many other heritage organizations. Joined by fiddler Dennis Stroughmatt, who is also fluent in Cajun French, Dennis and Morris carry the memories of their family and people for the enjoyment and education of those both inside and outside of Louisiana.

ARM-OF-THE SEA THEATER

Ancient traditions of mask and puppet theater, contemporary themes—Arm-of-the-Sea Theater creates a theater of visual poetry that speaks on behalf of the entire ecological community. The performance ensemble is based in the Hudson Valley, and have been working together for 18 years. Their shows are large scale live arts events, in contrast to the passive sameness of television culture. The events are expansive and multi-layered, appealing to both young people and adults. The members of the ensemble welcome the opportunity to share their special vision of the world. Their 2001-02 season includes these exciting productions: "At the Turning of the Tide" a celebration of estuaries, "Rip Van Winkle on the River of Time", "City that Drinks the Mouth of the Sky," the saga of the NYC water system, and "Seed Story", which has its roots in a Mayan tale and its tassels in a modern seed laboratory.

VIVAN BERRY: ASL INTERPRETER

ROSLYN BRESNICK-PERRY

Nationally known storyteller, author, translator, keynote speaker and teacher Roslyn Bresnick-Perry has a Master's degree in cultural history from New York University. She tells her tales in a colorful, entertaining manner, but within her stories one sees the thought provoking history of Children, elders, rabbis, folk heroes, pranksters, immigrants and poshete menchen plain people march through her tales. Drawing on her own experiences of the European shtetl and the modern American world, her stories are a true cultural delight.

AKIRE BUBAR

A highly spirited performer with an engaging presence and polish, Akire is blessed with a strong and moving voice which she couples with seasoned guitar playing and frequent audience participation to provide a fun and illuminating show. She has a wide repertoire, based in her own fine writing and ranging outward to traditional folk songs and the work of other temporary songwriters such as Bob Rankin and Cindy Kallet. An evening with Akire can include the stark, crystalline clarity of an Appalachian song, bouncy delta blues or a silly story and intricate tales of the spirit deftly illustrated in smooth, delicate guitar work.

Using voice, costume and characterization David Conover brings dramatic stories to life by stepping out the cast of characters. "My interest in storytelling stems from reading Coleridge's epic popular and innovative performers of family music, receiving a catalog of awards and a Grammy nomination for his family albums.

JOHN MCCUTCHEON

John wasn't supposed to become a folk singer. He was headed for a lucrative career as a social worker in migrant labor camps. But Woody Guthrie got there first. He heard the songs of the Dust Bowl refugees, the Grapes of Wrath stories that crackled on the airwaves of early 1960s radio and knew something else was going on. While still a college student, the oldest of a large Irish Catholic family, John took up the banjo "to help keep myself sane" and went off the deep end. He heard recordings of Roscoe Holcomb and Clarence Ashley, walked out to the end of the college road, stuck out his thumb and never looked back. John has become what one Australian paper called "the most overwhelming folk performer in the English language". His mastery of American folk music and instruments, complemented by storytelling that has the richness of fine literature, weave intimate, insightful and often hilarious canvases of which McCutcheon draws his vision of Americana.

STEVE CHARNEY

Magician, ventriloquist, musician, radio programmer, songwriter, children's author, recording artist and all-around nut Steve Charney also hosts and writes his own radio program "Knock On Wood," a zany kid's show. His off-beat comedy has caused families to shake with laughter for over 20 years. Steve has also written dozens of songs for "Bear in the Big Blue House," a Jim Henson TV program that airs daily on the Disney Channel. Harry, Steve's partner in crime, does not like to be called a dummy, but rather a "Wooden-American."

DOG ON FLEAS

A real band for real kids, dog on fleas has a new CD, fairly good songs for fairly good kids that is also popular among adults. The CD is getting lots of airplay on the Zucchini Brothers' show on

The Rime of the Ancient Mariner," he says. "It's the story of a storyteller doomed to walk the earth in search of an audience—I can relate to that." Actually, as a former Clearwater educator, David found many a captive audience. These days, when he's not writing grants or teaching for Clearwater, David is an actor in community theater, and he likes to write stories as well as tell them.

JOYCE GILLIAM BROWN

Master storyteller Joyce Gilliam Brown shares tales from many cultures. Telling to adult audiences of a thousand or nursery school groups of ten, she works her magic. Treading the thin line between one-woman theater and tale telling, she captures the hearts and minds of all who experience her verbal imagery. Most often arrayed in colorful African attire, she assumes the personalities of her characters. Her voice is an instrument, bold-riveting, soft-alluring, thunderous, wicked-cackling, and likely to burst into song. "In schools, churches, several institutions, our Nigerian population was mesmerized by the wonderful storyteller from the United States. It is no wonder that she evoked a standing ovation at the Nigerian National Theater. . . It was a tribute well-deserved!"—Assefa Fre-Hiwet, UN Representative, Lagos, Nigeria.

ROBIN G. BURGESS

Robin G. Burgess CI/CT, MA, is a transplanted New Yorker (The Bronx) currently residing in Boston, Mass. As an interpreter in private practice, she does occasional forays into the performance arts arena, interpreting for regional theatres, storytellers, and at festivals such as Clearwater and Rhode Island Labor and Heritage Festival. She looks forward to her eighth year of the Clearwater experience.

TOM CHAPIN

Billboard magazine has said that Tom Chapin is "one of those natural-born entertainers who, with nothing more than guitar in hand, can totally captivate." Tom comes from a large, musical family (which also produced the late, great Harry Chapin) reared on all sorts of music: from the renowned jazz drumming of his father, Jim, to the folk music of the Weavers. He's played everywhere from Broadway bands to festivals to symphony halls to coffeehouses. Over three decades he's created a dozen solo albums and many fans. Many people remember Tom from his seven years as host of "Make a Wish" or from the many years he was host of "National Geographic Explorer." During the past decade he has become one of the popular and innovative performers of family music, receiving a catalog of awards and a Grammy nomination for his family albums.

Band members' other projects include: the Fight McKenzies, Perfect Thyroid, For Sale by Owner Orchestra, Breadfruit and the Cartune Orchestra. Kids can sing and stomp along to original and traditional tunes played on fiddle, trombone, guitar, bass, drums and sax, with lots of singing and crazy antics.

Dogs on Fleas

Humanity is entering the century of the environment. New contracts are needed between humans, nature, science, and society.

Since 1966, the British magazine Resurgence has been a beacon of optimistic, yet hard-hitting discussion about challenges facing humanity and the planet. This conference brings together some of the magazine's most celebrated contributors who share with us conversations on sustainability, and inspire us in stunningly creative ways.

During our time together, in keynote speeches and small groups, we discuss:

- The changes we can make that will mitigate or minimize the human impact on the environment;
- How to develop the conviction that environmental problems are solvable, and the energy and patience to be part of the solutions;
- How to assist the world's citizens, governments, and corporations in thinking long-term about natural resources and systems;
- How our spiritual, psychological, and activist natures can nurture and advance each other; and
- How each one of us has the power and creativity to make a difference.

Anyone with an interest in these issues is invited to attend, including activists, teachers, business leaders, health-care professionals, scientists, and religious leaders. This conference begins Thursday at 8 p.m. and ends Sunday at noon.

Omega Institute, the Nation's largest holistic learning center, is a peaceful oasis with over 250 innovative workshops, wellness vacations, and spiritual retreats just 90 miles north of NYC in the historic Hudson Valley. Enjoy meditating in the Sanctuary, strolling the beautiful gardens, swimming or boating in our private lake, relax in our sauna and dine on delicious vegetarian cuisine.

The Century of the Environment

Resurgence Comes to America

JANE GOODALL, author of the recent best-seller, Reason for Hope, arrived in Gombe, Tanzania in 1960 and lived with the chimpanzees there for a decade, revolutionizing the study of primates. She founded the Jane Goodall Institute for Wildlife Research, Education and Conservation in 1977, and the Roots & Shoots youth program in 1991, which now has more than 1,000 groups in 50 countries.

PETER MATTHIESSEN is a novelist and nonfiction writer who writes about vanishing cultures and wildlife, spiritual practice, and the love of landscapes. His parallel career as a naturalist and explorer has resulted in numerous works of nonfiction, among them The Tree Where Man Was Born, which was nominated for the National Book Award, and The Snow Leopard, which won it.

LESTER BROWN, founder of Worldwatch Institute and president for its first 26 years, has been described by the Washington Post as "one of the world's most influential thinkers." The author of numerous books and articles, he helped pioneer the concept of environmentally sustainable development.

HAZEL HENDERSON is an independent futurist and lecturer, the author of six books, a worldwide syndicated columnist, and a consultant on sustainable development. She developed the Country Futures Indicators (CFI®), an alternative to the Gross National Product.

JAMES HILLMAN is regarded as the elder statesman of depth psychology and one of the seminal thinkers of our times. The author of 20 books, including his best-selling The Soul's Code, his pioneering work extracts therapy from its confinement within the consulting room and moves it out into the anima mundi (the soul of the world).

ANITA RODDICK founded The Body Shop in 1976, selling environmentally friendly beauty products. As the company has grown to 1,700 stores in 49 countries, Roddick has been outspoken in her passion to make business morally and environmentally ethical. She is the author of Business As Unusual.

FRANCIS MOORE LAPPE, founder of the Institute for Food and Democracy, changed America's ideas about food and farming with her landmark 1971 book, Diet for a Small Planet. At the start of the new millennium, Lappe's philosophy—that food is the central issue through which to understand world politics—is still valid, inspiring, and instructive.

AMORY LOVINS, author, researcher, inventor, consultant, and director of Rocky Mountain Institute, was honored by Time magazine for being one of the "Heroes for the Planet 2000." The Rocky Mountain Institute is an entrepreneurial nonprofit organization that fosters the efficient and restorative use of resources to create a more secure, prosperous, and life-sustaining world.

GUNTER PAULI is founder and director of the Geneva based nonprofit organization, Zero Emissions Research and Initiatives (ZERI). ZERI seeks to create a new paradigm of sustainable industry by making zero emissions a worldwide industry standard.

CATHRINE SNEED is the founder and director of The Garden Project in San Francisco, which works with prisoners in the San Francisco County Jail in a horticulture program. The U.S. Department of Agriculture called the project "one of the most innovative and successful community-based crime prevention programs in the country." Her work has been featured in The Economist, The New York Times, US News and World Report and many other publications.

SATISH KUMAR is the editor of Resurgence magazine and the author of Path Without Destination. A former Jain monk, he is a trusted voice on the cutting edge of the environmental movement, and the director of programmes at Schumacher College.

Premier All-male A cappella Ensemble founded in September of 1998. Repertoire includes all types of music, from comic to funk, barbershop to punk, pop to old-fashioned rock and roll. The members include students of a wide variety of majors, most of them not music-related. At the end of the day, they're just a bunch of guys who got together because they love singing. The Earth Tones were invited to perform in the International Competition of Collegiate A Cappella, from which they took home two awards! For more information about upcoming Earth Tones shows, please visit www.etimes.org.

ERIC ERICKSON

Peter Yarrow of Peter, Paul and Mary has called Eric Erickson a "warm, wonderful performer" whose songs "carry on a marvelous tradition that we gratefully inherit." In the Woodstock Times, Sharon Nichols has described Eric as "the embodiment of the American sinter-songwriter." Stephen Israel in the Middletown Times Herald Record has compared Eric's voice to those of James and Livingston Taylor, and has said, "He's truly in a class of his own as a songwriter—don't miss him."

In 1980, Eric joined the staff as co-host of WDST-FM Woodstock's long-running folk music program. He now hosts a weekday program on WDST's internet offspring, RadioWoodstock.com. On his debut album, At Long Last, with 11 original songs and a cover of the Beatles "I Want to Hold Your Hand," he is joined by some of Woodstock's most well-known acoustic musicians, including guitarist Artie Traum, John Sebastian of The Lovin' Spoonful, fiddler Jay Ungar and cellist Abby Newton. The album can be ordered from his website, www.EricErickson.com.

JOHN FORSTER

His acerbic wit and sense of melodic invention have made him the heir apparent to the almost lost art of satirical songwriting practiced by Randy Newman, Shel Silverstein and Tom Lehrer, who has said "I would say that he [John Forster] is head-and-shoulders above the competition. Except there is no competition." John has been strongly influenced by Leonard Bernstein and Stephen Sondheim, and has enjoyed great success in the musical theater. His book musicals include "Into the Light" on Broadway, "The Dream Team," at Goodspeed Opera House and the widely produced "Eleanor."

As a composer and producer of children's music, his work appears on albums of Tom Chapin, the Olsen Twins and Rosenshontz. John's first solo album, Entering Marion, was released in 1994. His 1997 release, Helium, has wicked send-ups of the O.J. Simpson trial, the Drug War and the break-up of the Soviet Union.

LINDA FUSCO

Linda has been interpreting at the NY Clearwater Festival since 1990, and considers it to be an honor to be a member of a group of such dedicated people. She also interprets at the NJ Clearwater Festival.

I work as a consultant with deaf children within NJ and I'm currently teaching an ASL class to teachers who are using sign language in their mainstream classrooms.

JIM GARBER

For over 26 years, Jim Garber has been playing old time music on guitar, fiddle and mandolin. He has also played in the New York Mandolin Orchestra and as part of a plectral ensemble at a concert in Carnegie Hall. Jim can be heard on the recently re-issued CD, The Wonderbeans on Blue Wind Records.

RAYNA GELLERT & FRANK LEE

These two performers share a passion for traditional songs and tunes from the rural south. Frank Lee has been playing and teaching banjo for over twenty years, was a founding member of The Freight Hoppers, and has toured extensively in the U.S., Canada and Europe. He has several albums and an instructional video available. Rayna Gellert has toured throughout the U.S., Europe and Chile, and is a popular instructor at The Swannanoa Gathering. Together they have toured across the U.S. and all over Sweden.

VANCE GILBERT

According to Dirty Linen, "Boston-based, Philadelphia-raised guitarist Vance Gilbert is among the quintessential musical poets of the 1990's. His lyrics are highly personal, his tenor vocals fluid and enthralling. There's an undercurrent of optimism behind Vance's music that, combined with the upbeat nature of his songs, gives you a feeling of utter joy."

When Vance opened for Shawn Colvin on her Fat City tour, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram wrote: "With the voice of an angel, the wit of a

with Seals and Crofts, John Simon, Karen Dalton, Taj Mahal, Bonnie Raitt, Jackson Browne, Little Feat, and Carly Simon. He has performed and recorded over the years with Orleans as well as solo; his album Power contained the song which became the theme of the No Nukes concerts. Recent recordings include On a Distant Star and Recovered, and Ride (with Orleans).

THE HAWK PROJECT

The Hawk Project promotes spiritual awareness and creativity through a blend of Native American music, jazz and free improvisation. The messages spoken of are of the earth. The pure tones of Native flutes, the intensity of pow-wow drums, rattles, along with bass clarinet, saxophone, keyboards & upright bass, fuse together into a music filled with beauty, depth love & tears, and finally hope for future generations. The band has collaborated with Jay Ungar and Molly Mason, R. Carlos Nakai, Jack DeJohnette and Kenny Burrell.

JONATHAN HEILES

Raised on Long Island, Jonathan Heiles cites his first public telling as the oral presentation of a tenth grade social studies project on African folklore. That was 26 years ago. He has considerably expanded his venues to include the Mohonk Mountain House, Towne Crier Cafe and various historic sites, libraries, coffeehouse and colleges in the Hudson Valley. He has done "guerrilla storytelling" for 16 years at the Dutchess Arts Camp as the resident. He focuses on stories from many cultures, but is mostly known as a teller of trickster tales.

devil, and the guitar playing of a god, it was enough to earn him that rarity: an encore for an opener." Since then Vance has released Edgewise (1994), Fugitives (1995), Shaking Off Gravity (1998), with guests as varied as Tuck and Patti, Jonatha Brooke, Patty Larkin, Dee Carstensen, Vinx and Jane Siberry. His most recent album, Somerville Live, a recorded concert from May 5, 1999, has been described by the Boston Globe as the disc "young songwriters should study the way last students cram for bar exams."

GRASS

Hailing from the Hudson Valley, Grass has been gigging from Nashville (The Station Inn) to Boston (House of Blues) for the last four years, singing of storms, sweethearts, trains and angels. The award-winning quartet has pioneered the reinterpretation of the American bluegrass, folk-rock, old-time and gospel heritage into an innovative, high-energy hybrid.

Grass draws from its members' multi-varied talents—the vocal strength of Kat Mills, whose early training in church choir continued through acting and as a singer/songwriter; the hybrid country/blues instrumentalist/vocalist Will Solomon, who applies classical guitar training to steel string guitar and mandolin; the eclectic wit of Jesse Selman, who evens out the mid to low range of the string band on a baritone ukulele; and Nick Polys, who carves out his own blues-Scruggs blend of five-string banjo. Rhythm Magazine described their CD Guns and Money as "an exceptional traditional sound well-executed and thoroughly believable."

JOHN HALL

John Hall was born in Baltimore, and grew up in Elmira, NY. He went to Notre Dame University to study physics, and played in a bluegrass band, a rock band, a football pep band, and an a cappella doo wop group. Instead of becoming a physicist, he ended up in NYC as a musician, where he met and married Johanna Schier. Together they have written songs for recording artists from a broad spectrum of popular music. Their songs have been recorded by Janis Joplin, Bonnie Raitt, James Taylor, The Doobie Brothers, Steve Wariner, Linda Ronstadt, Ricky Skaggs, and John's band Orleans. Five have been certified gold: "Still the One", "Dance with Me", "Power", "Half Moon" and "You Can Dream of Me."

John's studio guitar work included sessions with Seals and Crofts, John Simon, Karen Dalton, Taj Mahal, Bonnie Raitt, Jackson Browne, Little Feat, and Carly Simon. He has performed and recorded over the years with Orleans as well as solo; his album Power contained the song which became the theme of the No Nukes concerts. Stand-up poet Mikhail Horowitz and acoustic guitarist Gilles Malkine have been performing together in the Hudson Valley and beyond since 1989. He has appeared on countless TV programs including recent spots on ABC's 20/20 and Dateline, as well as his own public access TV show "Song Writers Notebook" featuring artists like Pete Seeger and U. #### PErFect ThYroID Every gland needs a way to secrete the hormones it creates. In the case of PErFect ThYroID, the delivery system of choice is the intensely energetic and interactive live show one that has been legendary with the fans since the band's first shows in early 1992. No PErFect ThYroID show would be complete without lead singer/trumpet player Chris Skunk Hanson venturing off-stage into the crows with fellow horn-players playing and singing with the fans. Yet, even amidst the athletic stage antics, the band shifts seamlessly through its varied musical gears, leading fans in vocal harmonies and slinky funk grooves, then taking it up into a pulsating ska/reggae bounce, with heavy guitar riffs just around the corner. It is through this skillful blend of music, message and energy that PErFect ThYroID achieves its physically and mentally motivating style. Through the band's deeply rooted respect for diversity of people and sound, an ever-expanding and diverse fan base is becoming a part of the PErFect ThYroID show. The gland has also released its music on conveniently small and portable CDs and cassettes. These include three independent releases and a fourth CD (released internationally on a label) called Musical Barnacles and hailed as one of the top-ten ska-influenced albums of all time by Alternative Press magazine. Their most recent album is called Sticktoitiveness. To learn more about the extended PErFect ThYroID family, visit www.perfectthyroid.com.

J. G. "PAW-PAW" PINKERTON

A native Texan who chooses to live in Stamford, CT., J.G. Pinkerton is a world-traveled, white-haired grandfather who tells all kinds of stories—personal experiences, Biblical and sacred stories, folktales, down-home humor and old and original tales—for all ages, all occasions, anytime, anywhere. "Paw-paw" has been a Featured Teller at the National Storytelling Festival and is the creator of Tellabration!, the worldwide storytelling event. J.G. can take a personal experience, a familiar folktale, or a literary story and in his warm grandfatherly manner, make the story uniquely his. He has told stories across the United States and appeared in festivals in Australia and Ireland and told stories in Israel.

THE PRINCES OF SERENDIP

Sophisticated troubadours The Princes of Serendip perform the song-poetry of T. G. Vanini. Their dense, unexpected imagery and haunting harmonies explore a wide range of feelings in a world of enchantment and whimsy. The band is based in Woodstock, NY.

T. G. Vanini is a professor of mathematics and an Englishman. Vanini's album, growth & gravity, was released in 1996 by Rose Hill Records. Julie Parisi Kirby's pure vocals and Don Yacullo's classically grounded piano are an integral part of the Serendip sound.

JENNY PSAKI

Jenny Psaki has been an Interpreter at the Clearwater Festival for the last three years. She's a graduate of the Julliard theatrical interpreter training program which prepared her for work with the New York Deaf Theatre, the Interborough Repertory Theatre and the Amarylly Theatre in Philadelphia. In addition, she's a graduate of the National Theatre of the Deaf summer school.

PEGGY SEEGER

Peggy was born in 1935 in New York City. Her mother, Ruth Crawford, was a composer and piano teacher; her father Charles Seeger was an ethnomusicologist and music administrator. As a child Peggy learned piano, music transcription, counterpoint and harmony. Between the ages of 12 and 35 she learned to play guitar, five-string banjo, autoharp, Appalachian dulcimer and English concertina. She tried the fiddle—and failed.

In 1959 she became a British subject and settled in London with Ewan MacColl, the British dramatist-singer-songmaker, by whom she had three children (Neill, Calum and Kitty). It is for Peggy that MacColl wrote the classic “First Time Ever I Saw Your Face.” Together they worked in the British folksong revival. For seven years they ran the controversial London Critics Group and produced a yearly political theater show “The Festival of Fools.” They formed Blackthorne Records and gave concerts and workshops throughout Europe and the New World. Peggy started a magazine of new songs (The New City Songster 1965-1985).

Peggy has made 19 solo discs and has taken part in more than 100 recordings with other performers. She is considered to be among North America's finest female folksingers. She has taken a leading role in folk music as a theorist and songwriter, with her songs on nuclear and feminist issues. Her most famous song, “Gonna Be an Engineer” is used by women in their struggle for equal rights. Her “Ballad of Springhill” is rapidly becoming a folk song. She has collaborated on books of folksongs with Edith Fowke, Alan Lomax and Ewan MacColl.

After Ewan MacColl's death in 1989, Peggy formed the duo No Spring Chickens with Irish traditional singer Irene Scott. They toured for four years and produced the CD Almost Commercially Viable. In September 1994 Peggy moved to Asheville, NC. She spends a good portion of her year singing and lecturing throughout the United States, with one yearly tour of Great Britain. Her recent CDs include An Odd Collection (1997) diverse songs written solo and with Irene Scott, Period Pieces (1998) women's songs written by Peggy 1963-1994, and Love Will Linger On (2000) romantic love songs, 2/3 of them written by Peggy. See www.pegseeger.com for more.

PETER SIEGEL

Playing the blues, swing, hip hop, traditional fiddle tunes and the folkier of folk on guitar, banjo, mandolin, bodhran, and his own two clogging feet, Peter Siegel reflects his New York ‘burb background. Born in the land of TV and strip malls, fast food and quick judgements, he was positively inspired by the likes of his parents, his politically active grandparents, Phil Ochs, Run DMC, Pete Seeger, Miles Davis, The Beatles, Looney Tunes, Led Zeppelin, old time music, and the theme song of the Jeffersons. He is known around the Hudson Valley as a member of The Harmonious Hogchokers and has sung the praises of the Hudson River in many a River Fest with the Hudson River Sloop Singers.

Over the last four years Peter has been hiding out in the traditional music scene of the Pioneer Valley of Massachusetts, where he is known for his work playing tunes on the guitar, mandolin, and banjo for contra dancers with David Kaynor and the Greenfield Dance Band every other Friday. In New York's Capitol Region he also plays with the Beverwyck String Band. See www.petesiegel.com for his recordings and performance schedule.

LIZ SLADE

An old-time fiddler and dance caller who resides here in the Hudson Valley, Liz Slade calls contras, squares and traditional southern big circle dances with an exciting, fast-paced and welcoming style. Her dances reflect her strong connection to traditional southern dance music. Liz has performed in such bands as the Resonators, Snake Lips, the Dork Sisters and the Voodooillies. She is a local favorite as a caller of dances for communities, families and children. She will be playing with Mike Weatherly and Jim Garber at the Revival.

SONIA

“If I could do one thing in this world, that would be to disappear fear,” SONiA has said. In 1987 Sonia Rutstein, along with her sister Cindy Frank, started the band disappear fear. Beginning on their own label, then with Rounder Records since 1994, disappear fear became one of the top-selling folk-rock artists in the United States. As a solo, SONiA has performed on the Lilith Tour and been the most requested performer at Pride Festivals in Boston, San Francisco, and Atlanta.

In 2000 she toured Australia, playing at the Woodford Folk Festival and elsewhere.

Sonny's first solo album, Almost Chocolate, won the 1999 GLAMA Best Female Artist award. "The reason I call this album almost chocolate is because the chemical breakdown of chocolate is very similar to the chemistry of a person who is falling in love, and next to love the greatest gift is music so I give you the closest thing to love which is almost chocolate and I hope you will feel this just like chocolate on your tongue."

MIKE WEATHERLY

His father, Johnny Weatherly, was a western swing bassist in the southwest. Mike Weatherly was born in west Texas and raised in New Mexico. Currently, Mike plays swing, western swing and jazz as well as country styles in various groups around the New York area. He also plays in the Lafayette Inspirational Ensemble, a gospel group based in Brooklyn. He is playing at the Revival with Liz Slade and Jim Garber.

TAO RODRIGUEZ-SEEGER

Tao Rodriguez-Seeger grew up in Nicaragua where he was deeply affected by the country's roots music and culture. He began performing with his banjo picking grandfather, Pete Seeger, at age fourteen. Together they've toured over fourteen countries including Cuba, India and Japan. Tao has been fortunate to record and perform with many great musicians, including Tommy Sands, Arlo Guthrie, Doc Watson, Sweet Honey in the Rock, Joan Baez, Leon Gieco, Billy Bragg, Kris Kristoferson, Roy Brown, Roger McGuinn and Tommy Makem. Tao picks the banjo and lays down big earthy rhythms on his 12-string guitar and the Irish bodhran and recently he's been composing fiddle tunes as well as complex banjo duets.

accompanies them wherever they go. They strive to honor world cultures by telling the old stories in respectful ways, often integrating the musical instruments, songs or dances indigenous to that region. Look out for their original modern renditions of the oldest stories, some of their most requested material. Publishers' Weekly has described them as "top-notch family entertainment" and their son would probably agree. See www.storycrafters.com for recordings and videos.

EMBER SWIFT

Ember Swift is best described as a brilliant jazz vocalist inhabiting the body of an alternative punk-folk singer-songwriter. Toronto-based, Ember is a 26 year-old self taught guitarist, percussionist and trained pianist. She is an independent artist, owning the label: Few'll Ignite Sound, and has 6 releases under her belt. Much has been made about Ember's unconventional approach to songwriting, such as her sudden shifts in tempo in mid-song, and her explosive acoustic guitar playing.

KATHLEEN D. TAYLOR

Kathleen D. Taylor received a Bachelor of Arts in Biology from Hofstra University and a Master of Arts from New York University in Rehabilitation Counseling Specializing in Deafness. Ms. Taylor is a certified interpreter (both RID and NAD certifications) and has had the privilege to interpret for several Broadway and regional theatre performances, Pope John Paul II, Nelson Mandela, President & Mrs. William Clinton, and for highly respected authors, political, social, civic and religious leaders.

CHRIS & MEREDITH THOMPSON

Best known for the unique blend of their nearly identical voices, the Thompsons weave vocals, flute guitar and percussion to create a sound that is beautiful, powerful and ultimately compelling. Dave MacElroy of the Kent State Folk Festival has written "they have an enchanting sound that will haunt you with its beauty."

Chris plays folk and jazz influenced guitar. Meredith plays Afro-Cuban rhythms on congas and adds soaring flute to their sound. They were first place winners of the OSBC Band Contest in Cambridge, MA (200), nominated for "RI's Best Folk Act" (Providence Phoenix, 1998) and finalists in the Lilith Fair Talent Search for New York City (1998). The Thompsons have opened for acts such as Richie Havens, Holly Near, Greg Greenway, Cliff Eberhart, Greg Brown, Patty Larkin, James Keelaghan and Ellis Paul. See www.cmthompson.com for more information about their recordings and performance schedule.

MATT TURK

In the tradition of the "talking blues," Matt Turk has given birth to the spirit of the new American Troubadour. His new CD Matt Turk is evidence that a guy with a guitar and a studio full of friends can still sing what he sees.

Matt spends time on the road crafting his songs out of life's experiences. In the song "Buffalohead", Matt recounts an afternoon in Albuquerque, New Mexico spent with a young shaman in training, a Native-American boy displaying his wares, namely animal bones for sale by the side of an interstate. His song "Fifth and Faith" evokes a Memphis sound, tambourine and mandolin lulling the listener into a state of punch-drunk contemplation. Matt seeks transcendence from the streets in the Lower East Side elegy, "Jimmy" a devastating song about stepping through sad tenement doorways into another life. For more information about Matt and his songs, see www.turktunes.com.

RUTH UNGAR

Ruth Ungar, daughter of fiddle master, Jay Ungar, and folksinger, Lyn Hardy, was on the road at an early age. For most of her teenaged and college years, however, she steered clear of the difficult musician's lifestyle and studied acting. Recently discovering the irony of her choice, Ruth is singing and playing music with renewed enthusiasm. In the Jay Ungar & Molly Mason Family Band, father and daughter have been fiddling up a storm, Ruth's timeless, honey-dipped voice has filled American music halls from Anchorage to Baton Rouge, and she's shared the stage with Natalie Merchant, David Bromberg, Nanci Griffith, and Tim O'Brien. Ruth also plays guitar and four ukeleles, including a custom electric uke.

JOAN WATTMAN

As the co-coordinator of interpreters at the REVIVAL for ten years, Joan has been doing performance interpreting at festivals, concerts, comedy shows, theater, in addition to full-time freelance work mostly in courts and mental health arenas. Joan has an MS in teaching interpreting and is an instructor in Northeastern University's University College. She loves being back on the river!

ous and socially conscious originals. Karen plays violin and sings in the original languages and vocal styles while Rick accompanies, often in odd meters, on an assortment of fretted string instruments. Karen and Rick have been performing together since 1995 throughout the tri-state area, on WAMC Radio with Pete Seeger and others, and on Jay Ungar and Molly Mason's "Dancing on Air," also on WAMS. Their new CD is entitled Chicken Fat Pudding.

Accompanying them on bass is jazz and Near Eastern musician (and current Woodstock, NY, council member) Steve Knight. He played with legendary oudist Chick Ganimian at a previous Clearwater Festival. Steve also performed at the Woodstock Festival in 1969.

DAVID ZIMMERMAN

"Acoustic Folk Monkey" David Zimmerman, now 22 years old, taught himself to play guitar at the age of thirteen and began writing songs soon after. He started working on the sloop Clearwater as a volunteer and continued on to be a Sail Apprentice, Education Assistant, Bo's'n and Second Mate. Playing for thousands of kids and adults, he slowly developed his own edgy folk style that stays crunchy, even in soy milk. Now, after two trips to Antarctica, playing at the southernmost coffee house in the world, and the release of his debut CD Just a Little Something, David has returned to the Hudson Valley. Armed with a lunch box full of double-fisted-gimme-some-folk ditties, his vivid lyrics are fiendishly clever and "sometimes hysterical to the point of physical trauma."

THE ZUCCHINI BROTHERS

"The Beatles of Kid's Music"—that's what the Zucchini Brothers, Jack, Steve and Sam, are often called. This band of brothers—Jack on guitar, Steve on keyboards, Sam on drums, each his own character, all of whom sing—offers up a stir-fry of musical styles. Hailing from Saratoga Springs, NY, the group is known for its work in schools, theaters and festivals around the country as well as for its nationally syndicated daily radio show, "The Zucchini Brothers, Live! at the Clubhouse."

In addition to producing their own radio show, the Zucchini Brothers make numerous television appearances, and their CDs are played on radio stations throughout the country. Zucchini music bridges the musical gap between kids and adults, appealing to people of all ages. See [www.zucchini brothers.com](http://www.zucchini brothers.com) for more information and to order their recordings and videos.

BAR SCOTT

"Bar Scott's rich body of sound moves the soul. The audience was captivated by her every note." That's what Leslie Sawhill, director of the Women's Work Festival in Woodstock, had to say about Bar's March performance. Bar sings her original songs on piano and guitar and is accompanied by two background vocalists. Artie Traum described her new CD this way: "Grapes and Seeds is excellent... I'm blown away. It's powerful, passionate and beautifully performed."

GROOVELILY

GrooveLily is a lush pop band fronted by Valerie Vigoda, a fetching, honey-voiced electric violinist who has toured with Cyndi Lauper and Joe Jackson. GrooveLily brings audiences to their feet with great vocal harmonies, sizzling energy, witty, yet touching lyrics, and an infectious positive outlook on life. Brendan Milburn is an incredible rock and roll pianist and a masterful songwriter. Gene Lewin is an intricate and exhilarating jazz drummer often compared to Carter Beauford of the Dave Matthews Band. Valerie Vigoda (lead singer, electric violinist); Brendan Milburn (pianist and co-writer); Gene Lewin (drummer).

DONNA THE BUFFALO

If you're not familiar with this amazing group, you soon will be. Formed in 1987, this six-piece band blends many musical genres: reggae, rock, cajun, zydeco, and folk. Their music is dance music with a universal message: tribal warmth and celebration, drawing in the audience and encouraging the band. The group rambles around the country in a legendary 1953 tour bus, playing festivals, clubs, and colleges. Jeb Puryear (electric guitar, pedal steel, vocals); Tara Nevins (fiddle, accordion, acoustic guitar, percussion, vocals); Jim Miller (electric and acoustic guitars, vocals); Joe Thrift (Lowery organ, synthesizer, vocals); Jed Greenberg (bass); Tom Gilbert (drums).

PERFORMERS

Roy Book Binder

Majstori

Flying Tomatoes

Sonando

30 years. His inspirations go way back, having worked with blues masters Rev. Gary Davis and Pink Anderson. He has been interviewed on NPR's Fresh Air with Terry Gross and has appeared frequently on TNN's Nashville Now show. An excellent storyteller, it is said that his stories are as good as his songs. The Sydney Morning Herald said of Book Binder, "behind the humor lurks a musical master."

MAJSTORI

A Bulgarian folk group, Majstori performs traditional music as well as linking spellbinding improvisations. Nedialko Nedialkov (kaval- an end blown flute); Vasil Bebelev (gaida- a bag-pipe); George Petrov (gadulka- a short-necked fiddle); Angel Dimitrov (tambura- a long-necked fretted flute); Ivaylo Koutchev (tupan- a two headed drum). Performing with Majstori is Petrana Koutcheva. She specializes in the vocal music of western Thrace, which she first studied with her mother, a leading singer from the region.

FLYING TOMATOES

Flying Tomatoes has been playing Balkan dance music in the Boston area since 1991 and plays every month for the Folk Arts Center of New England. Over the years, members of Flying Tomatoes have researched and studied music for the Balkans, and learned many tunes directly from ethnic masters. Their first recording, Rags to Racenicas, is widely acclaimed and features music from Serbia, Bulgaria, Romania, Turkey, Greece, Israel, and many others countries. Steve Gruverman (sax, clarinet, and whistle); Brian Wilson (fiddle, clarinet); Barbara Pixton (bass, pan flute, santouri); Julia Poirier (guitar, vocals, tambura); Tom Pixton (director, accordion, vocals, oud, lauto).

SOÑANDO

Sonando began at a Halloween dence in Rosendale in 1997, has already earned the reputation as the Hudson Valley's premier Latin jazz and dance band. The band is at home wherever a dance floor can be cleared. Fueled by a fiery rhythm section and high-octane horns, the band plays a wide variety of Latin styles from plena and son to salsa and merengue. Sonando's regular lineup consists of seven members whose backgrounds are as diverse as the music they play: Ruben Quintero (lead vocals, conguero), Antonio Velez (tres), Phil Demaier (trumpet, background vocals), Jeremy Baum (piano, horn arrangements), Jaf Farkas (bass, background vocals), Jose Souffrant (bongocero), Eric Wilson (timbaletero, drums, vocals).

ROGER THE JESTER

More than a juggler, more than a magician, more than a musician, more than a clown, he's Roger The Jester!—aka Roger Reed, who celebrates another great year as a professional fool. During his career Roger has left a trail of smiles and laughter throughout 23 countries. He performed with Mummenschanz on Broadway in the early 80's, wandered the streets and marketplaces of many exotic places, and performed with European circuses before settling in the Berkshires of Massachusetts. These adventures, along with an array of finely-honed skills, culminate in a performance that's highly interactive: a silent dialogue of delight with each and every member of the audience. Come and celebrate life through laughter with the Master of Mirth!

"PHILADELPHIA" JERRY RICKS

Every bluesman has learned from the music of the masters, but "Philadelphia" Jerry Ricks experienced the masters' blues firsthand. As a young man seeking out the sounds that moved him, he was led to their doorsteps, to their stages, and into their lives as he traveled, performed, and socialized with the greatest country bluesmen of the century. Mississippi John Hurt, Lightnin' Hopkins, Skip James, Son House, and Brownie McGhee are names Ricks casually recalls when remembering his first influences. Many of these artists became friends over the years. Today, when Ricks interprets a classic tune, it's a real and tangible return to the lives of the originators. The spirits of old friends visit and inspire Ricks; in turn he brings back their souls through his guitar and voice, extending their blues by creating his own songs within the same traditional framework.

TOM PRASADA-RAO

Born in Ethiopia of Indian Parents, and educated in the U.S., England, and India, Tom blends musical influences of folk, classical, and world music with his voice, acoustic guitar, and finely-crafted songs that combine pop melodies with an R&B beat. His songs are both personal and topical, direct and haiku, and his performance calendar includes many well-known venues as well as shelters, halfway houses, and benefits. His many
