Letter from the Festival Director

DEAR CLEARWATER COMMUNITY,

Welcome to Clearwater's Great Hudson River Revival. Ever since Clearwater founders Pete and Toshi passed away, we've been thinking a lot about the legacy that they left behind — how it continues to affect Clearwater, this Festival and us all.

Here at Revival, one can witness Pete and Toshi's legacy everywhere. First and foremost, this festival sits on the banks of the beautiful Hudson River. Had it not been for Pete's activism and "sailing up, sailing down," on the sloop Clearwater, bringing attention to what was once a liquid dump, we affectionately call this group "The Clearwater Family Band": Tom Chapin, David Amram, Tom Paxton, Guy Davis, and Josh White, Jr., among others. Other activist artists who join us this year include David Crosby, Ani DiFranco, and Toshi Reagon, the latter two who have performed at Revival numerous times over the years.

At the festival this weekend there are many other opportunities to connect with Pete's musical legacy. At the Circle of Song tent artists engage the audience to sing along together, something that Pete worked at his entire career. Teaching the next generation through song was another effects of climate change. Visit the Environmental Action, Green Cities, Discovery, and Tideline tents to learn more about Clearwater's initiatives and see firsthand how Pete's original work is still being carried out by dedicated Clearwater staff.

Other areas where Pete and Toshi's legacy can be felt are the Activists Area (nonprofit groups explain how their work makes for a better world), Working Waterfront (bringing people to the River through small boating activities), the Green Living Expo (companies showcasing sustainable products and services), and Zero Waste (originally named Litter Picking by Toshi when the festival first began) where we strive to limit the amount of items going into the waste stream.

Thanks to Pete and Toshi, Clearwater has been at the forefront of Accessibility for 30+ years—many other festivals now model their programs after ours. Our access committee provides free wheelchairs to use, volunteers to assist those in need to travel around the festival site, braille programs and maps at designated areas at the front or near each stage. Our American Sign Language (ASL) interpreters staff most stages and performance areas for those that are hearing-impaired.

Today, we have over 1,100 volunteers, some of whom have volunteered since the very first Revival. Simply put, without these volunteers, we wouldn't have a festival and we are forever indebted to them for their hard work and dedication. It's because of Pete and Toshi that they still volunteer, year after year. Our volunteers continue to inspire all of us at Clearwater.

If this is your first Clearwater Festival, please take a walk around this beautiful park and experience some of Pete and Toshi's legacy. If you've been coming for many years, experience something new and feel what Pete and Toshi mean not just to Revival, but to us all.

I'm proud to be part of Pete and Toshi's Legacy. I'm proud to be the Festival Director. And I'm proud to be part of the Clearwater Community.

Thank you for helping us to continue Pete and Toshi's legacy.

Have a wonderful weekend!

All my best,
Steve Lurie, Director, Clearwater Festival

Nina Feldman

wouldn't be here this very day, celebrating together.

Over 250,000 passengers, many of them inner-city school children, have experienced the Hudson River and gained a first-hand river education by sailing on the sloop Clearwater. Take a two-hour sail on the Hudson this weekend on the Sloop and imagine what the river looked like back when Pete first began his work and see what it looks like now.

Many of the artists we present are activists inspired by Pete. Although he once told me not to book himself or his friends and that we must get younger artists, I still find it very important to program artists that knew and played with Pete who are also activists in their own right. I life-long pursuit of Pete's and can be seen with two groups that he performed and recorded with—Clearwater's own Power of Song Youth Apprentices and the Rivertown Kids, who Pete won a Grammy award with in 2011.

Two performance activities that Pete began many years ago are still very important aspects of the festival—The Blessing of the River (Saturday at 12:50pm) and the Closing Ceremony (Sunday at 8:15pm), both featuring Native American performers alongside other long-time Clearwater friends.

This year Clearwater focuses on Climate Change, something that Pete and Toshi would have been very proud of. Many of Clearwater's core departments will discuss and display the negative

© Doug Mason 2009 Newport Folk Festival

The following is from an interview with George Wein, Chairman of Newport Festivals Foundation, Inc. which produces the Newport Folk and Newport Jazz festivals. Wein has been a long-time friend of Pete and Toshi Seeger's and worked closely with them in the early days of the Newport Folk Festival.

When I wanted to start a folk festival in 1959, it was because of the public's reaction to a folk afternoon I had scheduled for the Newport Jazz Festival with Pete Seeger, the Weavers, Odetta, and several others. I asked Albert Grossman, Odetta's manager, and someone who was knowledgeable about the folk world, to produce the first folk festival. Albert brought in people like Bob Gibson and others and we put on a good festival. We cancelled the folk festival in 1960, due in part to the weather.

At that time, Pete and I became friendly; Toshi liked my wife Joyce. In 1962, Joyce and I went up to Pete and Toshi's cabin on the mountain and we talked about bringing the folk festival back. We spent the night there and came up with the whole concept of what we wanted the festival to be.

The Newport Folk Festival came back in 1963.

Pete wanted all the artists to play for $50/night; he was the only one that could ask for that. We formed a nonprofit organization with a board of directors, which included Pete, Theodore Bikel, Oscar Brand, and others. My thing was to combine the commercial with the purity of real performers from all over the world. We had dozens of artists and everyone had their families with them. Everybody was together, housing and meals were together.

Pete never lost his sense of idealism and because of my love for Pete Seeger, he influenced my thinking in life and my concern for people and those who work for me.

I know about Pete and Toshi's living up there on the mountain, getting up every morning in what was their own pristine world, a major part of which was the view of the beautiful Hudson River. So it must have been festering in their minds for years that the river itself was contaminated. Pete and Toshi would talk about cleaning up the Hudson River using the Clearwater and the subsequent Clearwater Festival.

Pete got very involved. I went to one meeting on the Upper West Side of Manhattan, and he had collected an interesting group of people to start raising money for Clearwater. That was before the big hedge fund money that is there right now was available.

Clearwater became a big thing for Pete and Toshi. In the last years of their lives they passed it on, but in their hearts they never gave it up. Thanks to them people can now swim and fish out of the Hudson River.

I loved Pete and Toshi. In the last few years, I often went up to the mountain with Glory. We'd bring lobster, clam chowder, and steak and we'd sit out and have a big feast up there, and they loved it. Toshi, who could hardly move, would stand up and walk to the car to give me a hug. Tears would come to her eyes and my eyes.

On Pete's last trip to the Newport Folk Festival, he was just there to enjoy it and was not performing. We went out to the Atlantic Beach Club, where Pete ordered some clam chowder. He then added mussels, shrimp, and lobster. He was making the best clam chowder possible. That's the last time I saw him in Newport.

IT TAKES A VILLAGE TO SAVE A RIVER...

Join over 5,000 Clearwater members and help protect and restore the Hudson River estuary. There's power in numbers and your support helps:

- Maintain a clean and healthy river.
- Advocate for sustainable and safe energy solutions.
- Provide hands-on environmental education programs.
- Bring awareness about climate change.
- Maintain America's environmental flagship, the sloop Clearwater.

CLEARWATER MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS:

- Subscription to the Navigator - our biannual newsletter containing news and information about our programs, people involved and issues facing the Hudson River.
- Opportunity to volunteer as an educator aboard the sloop Clearwater or our sister ship, the schooner Mystic Whaler.
- 10% discount on Clearwater merchandise.
- Discount admission and an opportunity to volunteer at Clearwater's Great Hudson River Revival- the country's largest annual music and environmental festival.
- Discount admission to public sails.
- Voting rights in the election of Clearwater's Board of Directors.

Clearwater's mission is to preserve and protect the Hudson River and its communities, and to inspire, educate, and activate the next generation of environmental leaders. We are a grass-roots organization built by individuals donating their time, energy, and skills. Volunteers are the lifeblood of this organization and we are humbled by the efforts of our volunteers year after year.

One of the images you will see this weekend is over 1,000 volunteers working side-by-side at our annual music and environmental festival. In addition to volunteering at our festival these volunteers and many others join Clearwater throughout the year to devote their hard work, new ideas, positive energy, and boundless enthusiasm to the Clearwater legacy.

Clearwater presents the opportunities to become involved throughout the year such as:

- Office Volunteers
- Event Volunteers
- Tabling and Outreach
- Cause Musicians
- Fundraising and Hosting a House Party
- Onboard Volunteer educators for the sloop Clearwater and the schooner Mystic Whaler
- Clearwater Sloop Clubs (see page 32 for details)

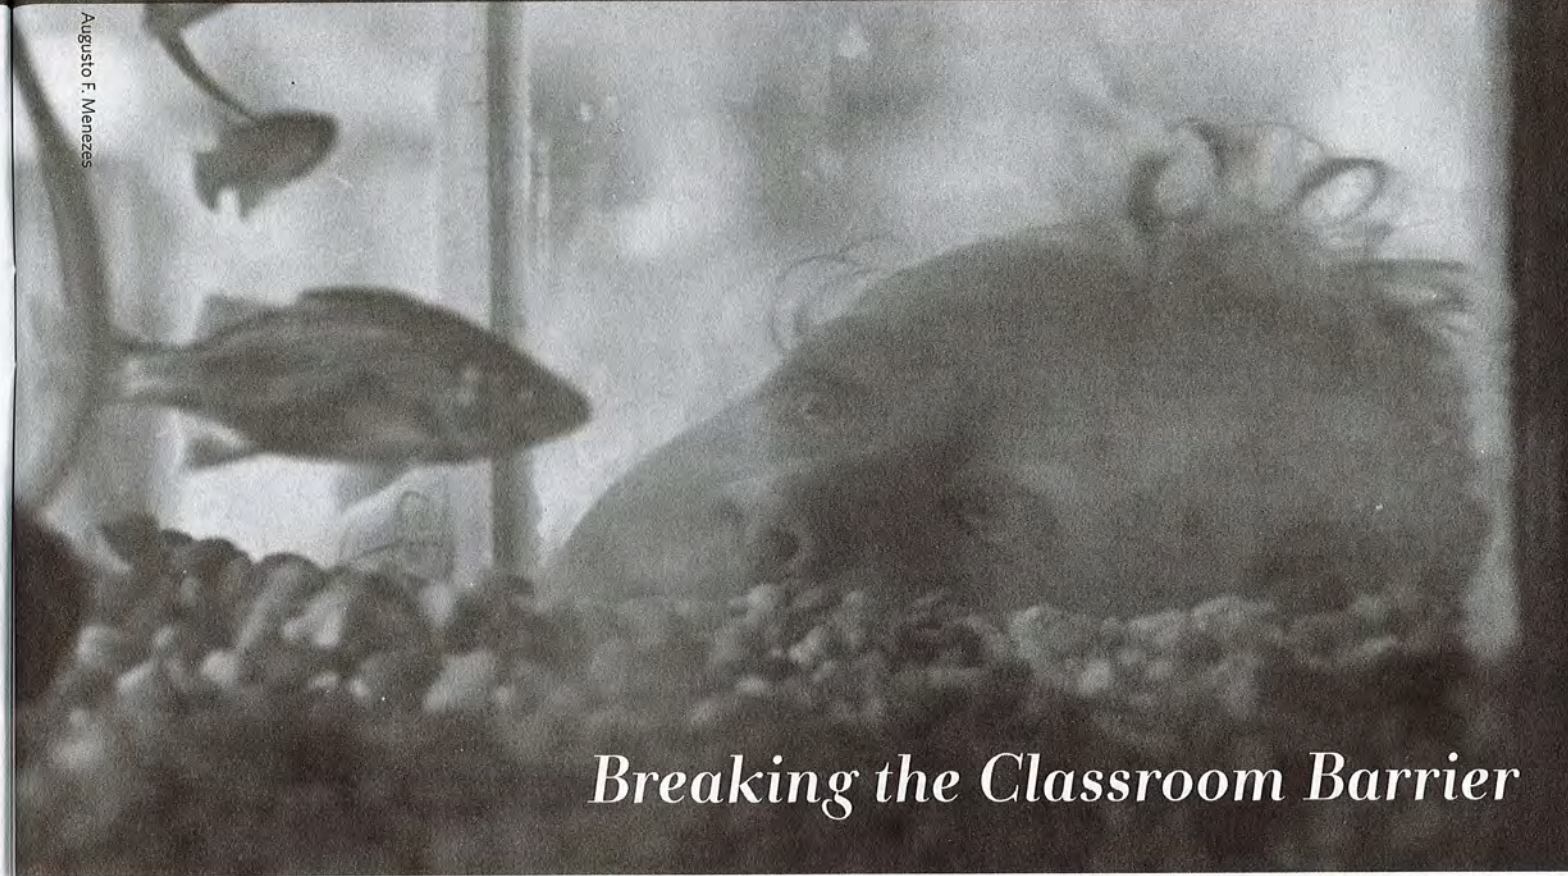

In the 1960s, volunteers "passed the hat" and raised money to build the sloop Clearwater at Hudson Valley Folk Picnics. Today, "the hat" has become a clickable donate button, and the folk picnic has evolved into a tradition of active, ongoing volunteer participation. The sloop Clearwater in all her glory is one part of Clearwater's legacy but it took thousands of volunteers to help raise money to build the boat and thousands more who to this day continue to contribute time, energy, resources, and skills to keep her on the water every year. Each returning volunteer and every new member of our community is encouraged to lend a hand and join in the legacy.

To those who continue volunteering with Clearwater over the years, thank you for your hard work and dedication, your time means so much to us.

If you have not yet joined us as a volunteer, but would like to be a part of our family of folks working to protect the river and create a more sustainable Hudson Valley, please come and volunteer this year with Clearwater!

Breaking the Classroom Barrier

Some of the most powerful learning experiences from my school years happened during the times when we were allowed out of school. I'm talking about field trips. These days, it's harder and harder for teachers to arrange trips out of school, with so much emphasis put on testing. Field trips are easy targets for budget cuts.

There is plenty of evidence to support the idea that bringing students out into the field enhances learning in the classroom. Kids learn in many different ways and a diversity of learning techniques can often be found in the kinds of programs offered at farms, environmental centers, historic sites, museums, and sails on the sloop Clearwater. Trips also get kids excited about learning and provide concrete examples of the sometimes abstract concepts discussed in school. Many adults have approached us (Clearwater Staff) over the years recalling their sail on the sloop when they were students. They might remember steering the boat, raising the sail, singing songs, or checking out the fish caught from the river. They may also remember the dedicated crew members doing something adventurous and unique to help make the world a better place. Many of these adults now have kids and are eager for them to have their own Clearwater experience.

Come by the Clearwater education tents (Discovery and Tideline) and see some of the ways Clearwater brings the Hudson to life for students. We'll have some fish tanks on display, as well as hands-on activities including seining for fish and an arts station. We'll have displays on invasive species, plastics pollution, the story of eels, and our "science lounge" with resources for the classroom. If you are a teacher or educator, ask about arranging a sail on the Clearwater or come to the Hudson's shores with our Tideline program. A Clearwater program can last far longer than the time spent on the boat. We can extend the impact of the trip back into the classroom with lessons, educator visits, and in-class resources.

If you sailed on the Clearwater as a kid, we'd love to have you stop by and share your story with us. If you are a teacher, educator, or parent and would like information on how to get your school or group onboard for a Clearwater sail, we'd love to speak with you. There's no substitute for the first-hand experiences that a sail on or a trip to the river can offer. We need our kids to have more contact with nature if we want them to become stewards as adults. Let's support the idea of "No Child Left Inside" and help make it easier for teachers, educators and parents to break the boundary of the classroom.

Environmental Action

Celebrating a few victories, while continuing our ongoing vigilance and positive action...

In several ways, this has been a good year for the Hudson River, with positive developments on a couple of very important environmental issues impacting the ecology of the surrounding waterfront.

HYDROFRACKING BAN:

The decision to ban hydrofracking in New York because of potential health impacts was a major triumph. Much credit is due to the many anti-fractivists who worked so hard and so smartly to ensure that fracking will not occur in NY. Realizing that we are in the midst of a global climate crisis, stopping fracking was Pete Seeger's last great environmental action crusade, adding this final verse to "This Land is Your Land..."

*"New York is my home, New York is your home
From the upstate mountains, Down to the ocean foam
With all kinds of people, Yes, we're polychrome
New York was meant to be frack free!"*

However, there is still much to be done regarding the various fossil fuel pipelines, bomb trains, pump stations, and proposed power plants that continue to present challenges to our health, safety, and the environment. Constant vigilance and ongoing action are still needed to place restrictions on the transport by river and rail of Bakken Crude and Tar Sands Oil, which has increased dramatically in the past few years.

DEFEAT OF THE ROCKLAND DESALINATION PLANT:

Kudos also go to all the hard work and persistence of the Rockland Water

Coalition (RWC) for defeating the proposed desalination plant, which would have been built at Rockland ratepayers' expense to sell excess water to New Jersey to profit United Water of NY/Suez. Once it was determined that this energy-intensive facility was not needed, a committee was formed to create a more sustainable plan for Rockland's future water supply. Great work, RWC—and all who helped prevent this 10-million-gallon-per-day boondoggle, which would have significantly harmed the aquatic habitat in Haverstraw Bay.

ONGOING ENVIRONMENTAL ACTION INITIATIVES:

PCBs: Clearwater is dedicated to ensuring a comprehensive cleanup of PCB hotspots in the upper Hudson to help restore the river's health.

Polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs) are a group of chemicals with two carbon rings (biphenyls) to which a varying number of chlorine atoms are attached. General Electric (GE) once used PCBs as insulating oil in capacitors and transformers, which were manufactured at plants in Hudson Falls and Fort Edward on the Upper Hudson from 1947 until 1977, when they were banned under the Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA), and safer alternatives were found. PCBs have been shown to cause cancer in animals and have been designated as a probable human carcinogen. They also can cause neurological disorders, hormonal disturbances, reproductive disruption, birth defects, and many other health problems.

In 2002, the EPA issued a Record of Decision (ROD) requiring GE to remove an estimated 2.65 million cubic yards of sediment containing 150,000 pounds of PCBs from highly contaminated hotspots in the upper Hudson, north of Albany. Dredging began in Fort Edward in May 2009, when almost twice as much PCB-contaminated sediment was discovered than expected. For the past five years, GE has been doing an exemplary job of remediating the river. However, approximately 136 acres of PCB-contaminated sediment immediately outside of the area designated for dredging still need to be removed to restore the river channel to full use by larger shipping vessels and to ensure the river's ecosystem recovers without unnecessary delays. This year, Clearwater and our partners have mounted the Campaign for a Cleaner Hudson (www.cleanerhudson.org) to inform municipal officials and community organizations and ask them to pass a resolution calling on GE to clean up the remaining PCB-contamination by entering into a mutually-beneficial voluntary settlement agreement with National Resource Damage Trustees and the NYS Canal Corporation. If GE uses or allows the Canal Corporation to use their existing dewatering facility and rail spur, it will result in the most complete, timely, and cost-effective cleanup—one that we can all be proud of.

INDIAN POINT:

Clearwater is working to ensure that this aging, leaking, and outdated nuclear power plant is no longer a threat to human health or the environment.

Given Indian Point's track record of a steam boiler rupture, a transformer explosion, siren failures, ongoing leaks of radioactive material, numerous unplanned closures, and severely overcrowded fuel pools, Clearwater believes that it is unsafe to relicense Indian Point Units 2 and 3 for an additional 20 years. Also, the proposed Algonquin Pipeline expansion is just half a mile to the south of Indian Point and the existing pipeline is right at the southern boundary of the plant—which is located at the intersection of two earthquake faults—the Ramapo and Stamford-Peekskill faults—as noted by Lamont Doherty Earth Observatory.

Clearwater is actively working with the Indian Point Safe Energy Coalition (IPSEC) to collect Health and Safety resolutions and Close Indian Point petitions, and is planning a conference in the fall with the Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC) to educate municipal officials about the ongoing dangers at Indian Point and the need to safely close and decommission this aging, failing nuclear power facility—in favor of transitioning to a truly green energy economy.

FISH IN DECLINE:

After more than 40 years of working to clean up the Hudson, 10 of 13 signature Hudson River fish still remain in steady decline. Causes include loss of habitat and spawning grounds, over-fishing and ocean bycatch, low dissolved oxygen from sewage plant discharges, and impingement, entrainment, and thermal pollution from power plants. As guardians of the Hudson River, Clearwater continues to work to reverse this trend and to alleviate its causes, along with Riverkeeper, Scenic Hudson, the NYS DEC Hudson River Estuary Program and Fisheries Unit, and other partners.

TRANSITIONING TO GREEN ENERGY ECONOMY:

Clearwater actively participated in drafting the Mid-Hudson Regional Sustainability Plan, which has an excellent section on developing sustainable energy practices for the region. Clearwater is also an active party in the New York State Public Service Commission proceedings to Reform the Energy Vision (REV) for New York, which emphasizes increased reliance on Distributed Energy Resources (DER)—renewables, energy efficiency, demand response, and microgrids to promote local energy self-reliance. To promote the goals of the REV and to mitigate climate change, Clearwater has initiated our 2015 Solar Challenge. Taking the pledge to install—or cause to be installed—5 or more kilowatts of solar energy generation this year will go a long way to reducing our collective carbon footprint!

CLEARWATER SOLAR PLEDGE

Help transition to a truly Green Energy Economy by taking the Clearwater Solar Pledge!

Driving around in his solar-powered pick-up truck, Clearwater's founder, Pete Seeger always said that creating a safe and healthy environment starts with each of us! Whether we can make this happen at our place of residence, or help to influence other locations to do so, installing solar power is probably the single most effective action we can take to address Climate Change and other environmental issues—and this is the year to act before rebates and tax incentives are reduced or disappear completely.

A bonus of taking the Clearwater Solar Pledge is that your installer may agree to donate a finder's fee or referral award to Clearwater to help us do the great work at which we excel.

Join us in pledging to install 5 or more kilowatts of solar power this year—or cause it to be installed on a municipal building, community center, house of worship, business, etc. clearwater.org/clearwater-solar-pledge

Climate Change and Clearwater

BY ISAAC SANTNER

One of the many perks of living and working onboard the sloop Clearwater is that you do not have just one home. Instead, our home is wherever the sloop Clearwater is docked. Each town where we dock becomes our de facto home, and over time we learn to love each one as our own.

Each town is different. In Kingston, the Rondout Creek is long and teeming with old tugboats and barges. In Piermont, we dock at the end of a long pier, separated from the town by a swampy marsh. In Alpine, New Jersey, we dock at a marina where the Palisades shoot straight up from the parking lot, a mountain range that does not end for miles.

These diverse towns are our home, and they are all changing.

We see it in the storm surges that flood the Piermont walkways. We see it on the Rondout Creek, where the roads flood at high tide. We see it in Alpine, New Jersey, where the dock is being rebuilt after massive ice flows last winter destroyed parts of the sea wall.

We take students out on the Clearwater from each of these towns, and from many of the surrounding communities. I recently sailed out of Kingston with students from Saugerties High School. The students talked about how storm surges and high tides have already flooded their communities, and even some of their houses. One student's family had rebuilt their home after Hurricane Irene to keep it out of a future floodplain. The group looked out at the shore and we talked about what these changes might mean for our lives in the Hudson Valley.

People around the Hudson Valley are already anticipating changes and implementing solutions to cope with climate change in our region. In Piermont, a resilient waterfront redesign group is reimagining and redesigning parts of the town that will soon be underwater. At various sites around the Hudson Valley, Scenic Hudson is purchasing land tracts to create future marsh habitat, to serve as natural storm buffers, and to provide ecosystems for the multitude of fish species that call the Hudson home.

The communities Clearwater visits along the Hudson River inspire a lot of hope in me for the ways they are seeking to confront the realities of climate change. Towns are becoming more climate-resilient, and climate-adaptable. Children are familiar with climate change as an issue and are thinking about how they can save energy and protect their homes. In Kingston, there is a group that plans to rebuild much of the waterfront to allow storm surges to flood right through the business district, and flow right out with the low tide. Clearwater has been involved in that project from the early stages, when the planning committee came onboard the sloop to observe the waterfront from the creek. We also integrated many of the storm-surge design practices in constructing the Kingston Home Port and Education Center, right on the waterfront.

At Clearwater, our greatest assets are the people who live in the Hudson River watershed, including those who attend the Clearwater Festival, our membership, and those who sail on the sloop Clearwater each year. We encourage you to learn about how these issues will change the Hudson Valley, and use your knowledge to help protect the Hudson Valley.

Isaac Santner is Clearwater's Education Coordinator

In December, there will be a major UN-sponsored climate change conference, part of a continuum of meetings that began in Rio de Janeiro in 1992. The Paris 2015 conference will focus on a universal agreement that will keep the global increase in temperature to no more 2 degrees Celsius—what scientists believe is unavoidable at this point. This is perhaps our last best chance to get a deal done. Clearwater wants to create as much grassroots support to encourage the US to fully engage with this international effort and take meaningful, binding steps to keep the planet's climate from warming beyond the point of no return. For more information on the conference: <http://www.cop21.gouv.fr/en>

CLIMATE CHANGE EXHIBITS AND INITIATIVES AT THIS YEAR'S FESTIVAL:

- Visit the Environmental Action and Green Cities tents to take Clearwater's Solar Pledge (see page 9 for info) and learn more about initiatives and actions you can take to mitigate climate change.
- Climate Change Speakers Forum—Visit the Sloop Club tent to see the schedule of climate change speakers throughout the weekend. Interactive displays throughout the festival grounds.
- Visit the Activist Area and learn about how you can take action on climate change, hear from speakers scheduled throughout the weekend, and visit exhibitors including 350NYC, Riverkeeper, and Plan to Save the Planet.
- Learn about home energy audits with RUPCO/NYSERDA or check in with solar installers and alternative energy providers at the Green Living Expo.
- Clearwater launched an online songwriting project this year that produced the group-written Climate Change anthem "Don't Walk Away". Hear this anthem performed by Clearwater's Power of Song Apprentices and Music Director Linda Richards.

Green Cities Initiative

Ecosmith

The Green Cities Initiative initially completed a groundbreaking Community-Based Environmental Justice Inventory in the City of Peekskill, followed by a Climate Justice project in the cities of Peekskill, Beacon, Poughkeepsie, and Kingston. This momentum continued through several other Green Stormwater Infrastructure projects in Poughkeepsie and elsewhere. In powerful partnerships and with excellent results, we are now expanding the program to include Watershed Awareness and Protection in Hudson Valley river cities:

Poughkeepsie/Fall Kill Creek:

In partnership with Nubian Directions, this initiative works with youth through community education on Watershed Awareness and Green Stormwater Infrastructure. The Poughkeepsie/Fallkill Creek project features a multi-session training for twenty AmeriCorps/YouthBuild GED students, ages 16-24, with a tour of Poughkeepsie's Water and Waste Water Treatment Plants and various Green Infrastructure (GI) projects in the area. The curriculum includes storm water calculations, an eel presentation, and water pollution exercises led by Clearwater Educator Isaac Santner. The students are currently building a demonstration project at the Nubian Directions Training Center, with direction from project subcontractors Shabazz Jackson and Josephine Papagni from Greenway Environmental Services.

Newburgh/Quassaick Creek:

Two projects in Newburgh include:

1) Clearwater and the Quassaick Creek Watershed Alliance (QCWA), through the eDesign Dynamics (eDD) Green Infrastructure (GI) grant, are working with community members and the City of Newburgh on Green Stormwater Infrastructure projects. These projects aim to design cost-effective, Green Stormwater Infrastructure to manage run-off, recharge ground water, and beautify neighborhoods. Additionally, these projects will help improve air quality and reduce combined sewer overflows (CSOs), as well as reduce the cost to implement Newburgh's Long-Term Control Plan. For this initiative, eDD is conducting data collection, analysis, and design; Clearwater's focus in the project is on community outreach and education.

2) The Quassaick Creek Watershed Alliance DEC Environmental Justice Grant: Clearwater is working with QCWA and sub-contractor Decora Sandiford to provide Youth and Community Education on Watershed Awareness and Green Stormwater Infrastructure, and to build a Fitness Trail along the Quassaick Creek and around Lake Muchattoes that includes tree plantings, and the construction of a GI rain garden and watershed model at Newburgh Armory Unity Center.

Beacon Urban Forestry:

The Beacon Community Forestry initiative concluded in the fall of 2013 and included a Tree Inventory, which was presented to the Beacon City Council by Cornell Cooperative Extension S.W.A.T. Coordinator Brenda Cagle. The City also removed dead or dangerous trees from Hiddenbrooke Park and participated in several Arbor Day tree plantings with Sergeant Downing Gardens

Peekskill Urban Watershed:

Working with community leaders Hollowbrook Water Watch and Peekskill Conservation Advisory Council (CAC), Clearwater helped to incubate the Peekskill Urban Watershed Council (PUWC). The PUWC works to educate community members about the Hollowbrook watershed, the MacGregory and Dickey Brooks, and other Peekskill tributaries. Subcontractor Susan Cockburn focused on community organizing. Hugo Jule and Mark Guzowski worked with the Peekskill Urban Watershed Youth Stewards at the Peekskill Youth Bureau, providing training for the Youth Stewards about watershed protection, stream monitoring, and Green Stormwater Infrastructure. The Youth Stewards received stipends to help do research and conduct outreach to inform community members. They also participated in Stream Cleanup and Rapid Stream Assessment of the MacGregory and Dickey Brooks.

Watershed Awareness Curriculum:

In partnership with Nubian Directions, the Peekskill Urban Watershed Council and Quassaick Creek Watershed Alliance, Clearwater is developing a comprehensive watershed curriculum for all three partners that stresses job opportunities, career preparation training, water protection, and conservation.

Activist Area Groups

As problematic as things are in our world, it would be a lot worse if it wasn't for the commitment and dedication of citizens who take some responsibility for caring for the world just as Pete and Toshi did during their lifetime. Those groups that we find in the Activist Area are made up of individuals who are doing just that, taking care of the world. The fact is that they are just like you. They are citizens who deal with the daily struggles of life, like holding a job, raising children, and paying the bills. But beyond that, they are part of a minority of the citizenry who actively speak out in an effort to improve the quality of life for the rest of us. They speak out in response, when others speak from ignorance, fear, and selfishness. Their involvement in the many movements that are represented here is but a small part of what it will take to overcome all the negative and destructive forces that we see in our world today. We encourage you to visit the Activist Area and meet some wonderful, life-affirming individuals who are walking the walk. See what you can do to be part of the solution anywhere, from signing a petition to organizing a group. As Gandhi said, "You must be the change you wish to see in the world." Please come by and say hello.

Roy Volpe and Sue Gamache, Activist Area co-coordinators

Children's Area

St. Philip's

The Children's Area is a distinctly creative and uniquely inspired activity area for children and parents alike. Together parents and children can explore a play area that teaches, engages, and challenges. The Children's Area provides a wonderful atmosphere for kids and 'tweens to release their energy in a creative and positive way.

Remembering Tery Udell

*"19th amendment gave women the right to vote
When we right a wrong we'll let the whole world know
1920 was one victory
We've been always making history
We'll make more reforms in this world as we go"*

This is a verse from the latest song written by The Rivertown Kids, of Beacon, NY. Since 2007, the group has been singing and writing songs, and you may have seen them performing at the Hudson River Revival over the years. But this year is, sadly, not the same.

Tery Udell, the Beacon schoolteacher of 29 years who began the group, passed away this last April. Tery was a gentle, yet exacting, leader of the kids in a way that showed her extensive teaching experience and ability. She would organize the kids in an effective order on stage, and sit in the front row reassuring them as they sang. She was ardent about singing songs that contributed to the recognition of, and acting upon, social issues. But she was much more than that; the kids loved her and went to her to talk about whatever was on their minds. She would come to the rehearsals not only with songbooks, but also with an understanding of just who each person in the group was. And this is where she really shined.

Tery also procured grants that enabled some of her students to sail on the Clearwater, and would follow those trips up with creative lessons about the Hudson River. We miss her a lot, and the Rivertown kids dedicate their set on the family stage this year to her.

-Travis Jeffrey (A Rivertown Kid)

Sloop Clearwater

Economist

"And I'm quite convinced that 500 years from now, the Clearwater will still be sailing. They probably will have replaced every plank on her by that time. She will have been wrung through five or six masts ... maybe ten or twelve ... but she will still be sailing. Because there will still be a job to do."

- PETE SEEGER, FROM THE VIDEO, CLEARWATER: A MAIDEN VOYAGE

Celebrating America's Environmental Flagship

In 1966 Pete Seeger announced plans to "build a boat to save the river," with the belief that a majestic replica of one of the sloops that sailed the Hudson in the 18th and 19th centuries would bring people to the river, where they could experience its beauty and its desperate plight, and be moved to preserve it. At the time, the Hudson River was so polluted that several miles of it were declared "dead" due to the raw sewage and industrial effluent regularly discharged into it.

Pete and friends played dockside concerts up and down the river with the banjo case open for donations to raise funds to build the sloop. As awareness of Seeger's vision grew, so did the crowds. In 1969, the 106-foot sloop Clearwater was launched at Gamage Shipyard in South Bristol, Maine. Since her launch, more than half a million people have been introduced to the Hudson River estuary's ecosystem aboard the sloop.

Today, the sloop Clearwater is iconic to the Hudson River and its people as a symbol of environmental awareness, sailing from New York City to Albany, April through October, and welcoming approximately 12,000 people onboard each year. This "Sailing Classroom" is the centerpiece of Hudson River Sloop Clearwater's education programs. Students onboard learn about ecology, fish and plankton, chemistry, math, physics, Hudson Valley history, and environmental stewardship. Many have never been on a boat before and have an opportunity to help sail the sloop, work together to raise the 3,000-lb. mainsail, take the tiller and steer the boat, and join the crew in sing-a-longs and chantays.

Hudson River Sloop Clearwater created the blueprint for many other sail education groups as the first onboard environmental classroom accessible to children of all ages, races, and backgrounds. Today there are several boats and organizations around the world conducting programs that are based on Clearwater's hands-on method of teaching.

The organization Hudson River Sloop Clearwater, Inc. continues to grow and evolve from its grassroots beginnings to serve Hudson Valley communities with a variety of innovative educational programs, environmental advocacy, and musical celebrations, like the Clearwater Festival.

In 2004, the sloop Clearwater was named to the New York State Register of Historic Places in recognition of its, "exceptional significance in the history of environmental activism." It all started with a desire to clean up a troubled Hudson River and a vision for an iconic ship. Through song and determination, Hudson River Sloop Clearwater has made a remarkable impact in the environmental movement.

2014 - 2016 SLOOP RESTORATION

The sloop Clearwater is currently subject to United States Coast Guard-mandated repairs and restoration work that calls for replacement of the centerboard trunk, the bed logs, and main hold, with major work aft and the replacement of the transom. If all goes according to plan, every plank below the waterline will be replaced by the spring of 2016. Hudson River Sloop Clearwater has been awarded a $497,303 matching grant by the State of New York to support the three-year plan to restore and repair the sloop. The grant was awarded by the New York State Office of Parks, Recreation, and Historic Preservation (OPRHP) during round three of funding from the Regional Economic Development Council initiative with funding designated to pay for skilled labor and materials needed for this specific work. We need your help to ensure that the sloop Clearwater sails now, and in the future! Help us meet our goal with this matching grant; please visit www.Clearwater.org to make your donation today.

(Please use the dropdown menu and select "Sloop Restoration.")

Sloop Clubs

Sloop Clubs support knowledge and love of the river through concerts, festivals, lectures, publications, potluck dinners, picnics, and sailing programs.

As affiliates of Hudson River Sloop Clearwater, Inc. they are dedicated to carrying out the organization's purposes in their own locations through education, advocacy and celebration. Each club has its own character and emphasis—raising public awareness of the river as a natural and recreational resource; promoting sound ecological practices; educating about watershed ecology, responsible, and irresponsible uses of natural resources; and methods of remediation for existing problems.

The Sloop Club Congress comprises local sloop clubs to discuss the means to support Clearwater's mission. We meet during the Clearwater Festival on Sunday morning at the Sloop Club tent and at Clearwater's Annual Meeting in the fall.

This year, a Climate Change Speakers Forum will take place at the Sloop Club tent. Visit the Sloop Club tent for the schedule of climate change speakers throughout the weekend.

Contact a Sloop Club near you for more information about specific activities and meetings.

BEACON SLOOP CLUB (Mid-Hudson Valley)
Clubhouse located at 2 Red Flynn Drive on the Hudson River adjacent to the Beacon train station. Meetings first Friday of each month. Free sails on the Ferry Sloop Woody Guthrie each weeknight, May-October, reservations 845-297-7697. Three major educational and fundraising festivals each year at the Beacon waterfront or park. Spring sailing classes for the public. Free environmental lectures. Cooperative harbor moorings and docks. Public boat ramp adjacent to clubhouse. Partner with City of Beacon, and Scenic Hudson to responsibly develop waterfront.

WALKABOUT CLEARWATER CHORUS

The Walkabout Clearwater chorus takes its 7-foot scale model of the Clearwater where the big boat cannot go, with song and a monthly coffeehouse. The chorus performs nationally and internationally, including environmental festivals, arts festivals, schools, senior residences, and gatherings for social justice. The Walkabout Clearwater Coffeehouse presents fine contemporary musicians from autumn through spring in White Plains, starting the fall 2014 season with a performance by the Kennedys.

Dog on Fleas
Dog on Fleas has been performing and recording intelligent, gutsy music for kids and adults since 1999. They revel in diverse sounds and styles of music, keeping it both loose and tight so you can dance with a grin on.

Eric Russell
Eric Russell is a songwriter who plays the concertina and sings chanteys. Eric's profession and obsession is providing affordable clean water to those who do not have access to it.

Dom Flemons
Dom Flemons is the "American Songster," pulling from traditions of old-time folk music to create new sounds. Having performed music professionally since 2005, he has played live for over one million people just within the past three years.

Ezzell Floraniña
Ezzell Floraniña is a clown, stilt-dancer, and theater artist of great heights. She embodies many characters and creatures, including giant mermaids, flying dragons, pirate queens and fairy god-mothers. Watch for the giant dragonfly or maybe a honey bee this year!

Donna Nestler
Multi-instrumentalist (guitar, hammered dulcimer, recorder, harmonica, concertina) Donna's current love is the banjolele. She has spread her love of uke throughout the US and Australia! The varied music styles will make you smile. Be careful, you may go home strumming!

The Felice Brothers
Three brothers, originally from the Catskill Mountains, got their start playing in NYC subway stations. Ten albums later they're playing all over the country, including legendary festivals such as the Newport Folk Festival, and have toured with the Dave Matthews Band.

Doug Paisley
Doug Paisley is a Canadian alternative country artist with a Southern soul. Having been featured on CBC Radio in Canada and on NPR in the US, his 2014 album, Strong Feelings, received positive reviews from Rolling Stone and Pitchfork.

Fred Gillen, Jr.
Fred's music has been featured on NPR's "Car Talk," and on Pete Remembers Woody. Like Guthrie, Fred's songs reflect the struggles of the marginalized and forgotten, shining a light on both despair and hope in the human condition.

Dustbowl Revival
A California-based collective that merges old school bluegrass, gospel, blues, and the hot swing of New Orleans to form a spicy, roots cocktail. Known for their roaring live sets, Dustbowl brings together many styles of traditional American music.

Funkinships
From the deepest bilges of the Mystic Whaler and Clearwater climbs the post-folk-absurdist called Funkinships. This unlikely band of musical misfits rose from obscurity to become "not great," says founding member Derek McGee, "but pretty good". Funkinships has arrived.

Thomasina Winslow
In the world of acoustic blues aka country blues, delta blues, piedmont blues, Thomasina tours nationally and internationally. She carries the legacy of the blues in fine form with her warm, rich vocals and snappy guitar chops.

Shelby Lynne
Grammy winning Singer/Songwriter Shelby Lynne is hitting the road in support of her brand new album I Can't Imagine!. The recent founder of her own label, EVERSO, Lynne continues to stand apart from the mainstream music world.

Tinhorn Calico
This dirty band of sustainable farmer-musicians from throughout the Hudson Valley offers new and traditional work songs and farm tunes to holler out your solidarity with local farmers.

Sleepy Man
This trio of 17, 16 and 12-year old brothers has made quite an entrance onto the music scene with their popular YouTube videos. Representing a new generation of Americana roots music, they've already played Stagecoach and the New Orleans Jazz festival.

Todd Crowley
"My belief about folk music is that it isn't just music we listen to from the audience. Folk music is about making music of our own—on all levels—and then passing it down to the next generation."

Steve Stanne
Steve came aboard Clearwater in 1980, leading its education programs for 19 years before joining the NYS-DEC's Hudson River Estuary Program in a similar role. His voice, guitar, and Dobro have been sought out by scores of regional musicians for concerts and recordings.

Todd Snider
The musical style of Todd Snider incorporates Americana, alt-country, and folk. Snider's latest album, Agnostic Hymns & Stoner Fables, was released in 2012 and peaked at no. 6 on the U.S. Folk chart.

The Storycrafters
Performing together since 1991 and recipients of the NSN Oracle Award and the CNCF Gold Medal for Creativity in the Arts, The Storycrafters (Barry Marshall and Jeri Burns) teach and tell their unique, award-winning, musical take on traditional folklore across the globe.

Tom Chapin
America's favorite family entertainer, he's a gifted singer who charms audiences of all ages. His remarkable musicianship and personal warmth shine through in his award winning recordings. "...One of the great personalities in contemporary folk music." - New York Times

Story Laurie & Ira McIntosh
Local lore, garden songs, and plain ol' get down & dirty good time fun is what the McIntosh family will be serving up throughout the weekend - solo, duo & more. And there you will be, too, singing right along.

Tom Paxton
Describing Paxton's influence on his fellow musicians, Pete Seeger once said, "Tom's songs have a way of sneaking up on you. You find yourself humming them, whistling them, and singing a verse to a friend... they're becoming part of America."

Festival Performers

Tony Duncan
After years of studying astrophysics, evolutionary biology, social psychology, and educational theory, in 1982 Tony bowed to the inevitable and became a juggler. Funny, unique, accessible and spontaneous, Duncan entertains audiences from circuses in Europe to cruise ships in Antarctica.

Toshi Reagon & Big Lovely
Described by Vibe magazine as "one helluva rock'n'roller-coaster ride" and by Pop Matters as "a treasure waiting to be found," Toshi Reagon is a one-woman celebration of all that's dynamic, progressive and uplifting in American music.

Travis Jeffrey
Travis was a fixture on the sloop Clearwater from the early 80's to the mid-90's as educator and captain. Favorite songs? The ones that we all sing together!

Vanaver Caravan
The Vanaver Caravan is a world touring company of dancers and musicians that presents a variety of entertaining and informative programs, synthesizing various ethnic and regional styles from Appalachian clogging to flamenco with a range of modern theatre techniques.

Walkabout Clearwater Chorus
The Walkabout Chorus was created by Pete Seeger to bring the environmental message of the sloop Clearwater inland. Walkabout appears on Pete Seeger's Grammy-winning CD, Pete Seeger at 89, on PBS-aired "Peter Yarrow's Singalong Special" and has its own CD, They Had A Song.

Wild Asparagus
Taking an original approach to the traditional dance music of our folk heritage, Wild Asparagus is America's "most traveled" contra band. Using their unique blend of instruments, creativity, and skills, they offer a sensitive and powerful performance.

BOAT, ARTISANAL FOOD & FARM MARKET, & ACTIVIST AREA PERFORMERS

In addition to our stage and field performers, the following musical groups play during sails aboard the sloop Clearwater and schooner Mystic Whaler, at the Artisanal Food & Farm Market, and at the Activist Area throughout the festival weekend:

Answer the Muse
Answer the Muse proudly defines itself as "Indie Rock with Yogic Soul" with performances that feature original songs, covers songs remade - fused with yogic sacred chant, and audience participation that includes Kundalini yoga breathwork and meditation in theme based sets.

Breakneck Ridge Revue
Breakneck Ridge Revue performs twangy, tradition-inspired tunes from sea shanties and folk classics to country blues. The Revue includes Andy Revkin, Al Hemberger, David Ross, Dan Einbender and Patrick Stansfield Jones.

Jay Hitt
Hailing from Pittsburgh, Jay Hitt is a songwriter and performer whose stage credits include "Always, Patsy Cline" and "Ring Of Fire". His original songs are touching and memorable, his guitar chops formidable and his demeanor engaging.

Lawson
Traditional music of Ireland - creating the ambience of the "kitchen session" or house party where music, story, song, and the warmth of hearth and home are paramount.

Niemö
Niemö perform everything from salty sea songs to fresh folk tunes. Maura and Maija Niemistö have sailed as crew aboard Clearwater, Uncle Patrick is a professional musician from Michigan, and Jesse and Ben Ridgeway hail from the forests of Vermont.

Piedmont Bluz
Piedmont Bluz is dedicated to the preservation of Country Blues and the Piedmont style. Their mission is to help keep this rural, east coast tradition alive by educating audiences about this unique aspect of African American culture through musical entertainment.

Rich Hines & the Hillbilly Drifters
Traditional and not-so-traditional American string music. They are sure to delight with standards and originals from blues to bluegrass and all points in between.

Thomas Wesley Stern
Thomas Wesley Stern is from the Pine Barrens of New Jersey, a densely wooded forest of rich cedar streams and winding sand roads. Weaving rustic harmonies with the hum of stringed instruments, the band harkens to a time we assume was better but insists the best is yet to come.

Zero Waste

The Clearwater Festival serves thousands of people, including audience, volunteers, staff and artists. From the very beginning over 40 years ago, our festival has taken responsibility for the waste that we generate. We ask that you help us work towards a goal of zero waste by reusing when possible, and utilizing the sorting stations located around the site. To make it easier, food vendors will be offering products on compostable or recyclable serviceware. If you have questions, please ask the vendor or one of our helpful Zero Waste volunteers!

Each sorting station includes three bins:

COMPOST

- All food waste (including meat, bones, and dairy)
- Paper plates, waxed paper, paper napkins, wooden skewers and chopsticks
- Compostable plastics (#7 PLA utensils, cups, and straws)

RECYCLING

- Bottles
- Cans
- Plastics

You can recycle all numbered plastics except for styrofoam. Unmarked plastics and bags still go in the trash bins. Compostable plastics should be composted, not recycled.

TRASH

We ask that you only dispose of true trash. Please double check where the product came from on the festival grounds. If it's from the food court or any food vendor it is compostable or recyclable. The trash bin is the last resort.

ZERO WASTE PROGRESS

Over the past 7 years, our festival has been moving toward zero waste. This means that every year we have increased the percentage of festival-generated materials recovered through composting and recycling, thus reducing the amount of trash added to the waste stream and hauled to the county incinerator. Festival generated compostables are sent to Rockland County Solid Waste Management Authority's co-composting facility in Hillburn, NY. Trash is burned at the county incinerator.

In 2014, Clearwater Festival retrieved the weights of material collected during the festival and established percentages for each of the following categories:

Trash = 6160 lbs. (3.08 tons) = 20%
Recycling = 11700 lbs. (5.85 tons) = 39%
Compost = 12300 lbs. (6.15 tons) = 41%

When combined, the Recycling and Compost total collectively 12 tons of diverted material, or ~80% of our waste stream!

This would not be possible without your help. We rely on everyone at the festival to chip in by taking an extra moment every time you throw something away. Together we can make this work.

Remember to Reduce the amount you use, use Reusable items and, when buying, buy stuff made from Recycled materials. Bring your travel mug or water bottle with you to stay hydrated. A spork or reusable silverware are small and can easily tuck away in a pocket when not in use. Be creative, and help support our zero waste efforts.

Questions?

Our festival Zero Waste committee has trained volunteers to help you decide where your waste can be deposited. Please ask them to help you sort compostables and recyclables. They are present at each sorting station in the food court and at various locations around the festival grounds. The Clearwater Festival's efforts toward zero waste are supported by the following entities:

Rockland County Solid Waste Management Authority
 Westchester County Parks Department
 We Care Organics
 Suburban Carting
 EcoSafe

Hudson River Sloop Clearwater, Inc. is a 501(c)3 tax exempt nonprofit, member-supported corporation whose mission is to preserve and protect the Hudson River, its tributaries and related bodies of water. As an organization, Clearwater works to provide innovative environmental programs, advocacy, and celebrations designed to inspire, educate and activate the next generation of environmental leaders.

In 1966, Pete Seeger was deeply concerned over the pollution of the Hudson River and announced plans to "build a boat to save the river." At the time, the Hudson was rank with raw sewage, toxic chemicals and oil pollution, and fish populations were disappearing at an alarming rate. Seeger envisioned a majestic replica of the Dutch sloops that sailed the Hudson in the 18th and 19th centuries, thinking that such a boat would bring people down to the river to enjoy its beauty and sublime qualities, simultaneously feeling inspired to preserve it.

Inspired by that vision, the 106-foot-long sloop Clearwater was built and launched in 1969. The sloop was among the first vessels in the U.S. to conduct science-based environmental education aboard a sailing ship, virtually creating the template by which such programs are conducted around the world today.

Since the launch of the sloop Clearwater, more than half a million young people and hundreds of thousands of adults have experienced their first real look at an estuary's ecosystem—fish, invertebrates, water chemistry and ecological principals—aboard the sloop. Clearwater's environmental education programs serve more than 12,000 students annually.

Clearwater's members helped advocate for the Clean Water Act, the Hudson River Park Act, the removal of PCBs from the Hudson, the closure of Indian Point - and against hydro-fracking.

The sloop Clearwater, America's Environmental Flagship, was named to the National Register of Historic Places in 2004 for its role in the environmental movement.

Each summer, Clearwater re-connects Hudson Valley residents with their cultural heritage and traditions by bringing them down to the river for the Great Hudson River Revival, the country's oldest music and environmental festival. The organization and its local sloop clubs also sponsor smaller local riverfront festivals throughout the year. Clearwater's unique approach to public outreach has made the sloop Clearwater a symbol of grassroots action through hands-on learning, music and celebration.

PLEASE VISIT:

Welcome to Clearwater's Great Hudson River Revival 2015!

We all know that Pete Seeger was a champion for people who are under represented and those who struggle with oppression. The disability community, among the most under represented citizens of the country, came forward early in the evolution of this festival, and Pete and Toshi Seeger made a commitment to provide equal access. As a result, the Clearwater Festival is one of the first and still one of the most accessible outdoor festival venues in the country.

From a practical standpoint, accessibility is provided by establishing Access Areas at the front of all the stages, ASL Interpreters on the main stages, large print and Braille programs and maps, wheelchairs to borrow free of charge, golf cart rides around the festival site, Access volunteers to assist people with disabilities as well as many other amenities.

We also pride ourselves on creating a welcoming, non-judgmental, positive attitude around all kinds of disabilities. For instance, in this entire article, except for this explanation, you won't see the "H" word...handicapped. The word handicapped is generally believed to have originated before the start of social support programs when the disabled had to sit on the corner begging, with their cap in hand (hand-in-cap...). In addition, we talk about parking, seating areas and port-a-johns as being accessible, not as "handicapped". The parking and port-a-johns aren't disabled or "handicapped", but they are accessible. Words are powerful and by choosing this kind of positive language, we hope to affect change in a much broader way.

So, this is why there are large open areas in front of the stages that may seem unused during some performances. By providing this space at the front of the stages, people with disabilities and their families are welcome and don't have to try and move around the patchwork of blankets and chairs in the audience area. Also, unlike able-bodied people, people with disabilities often cannot easily move their bodies to get a better view of the performer. We keep these areas clear and open, even when there doesn't seem to be a great need, because it's much easier for everyone to have the space established rather than asking able-bodied audience members to move later in the day.

Clearwater loves and celebrates cultural diversity. One of the cultures celebrated here in the midst of song and sunshine is the Deaf Culture and its community. While enjoying the high quality performances you will encounter at each of our stages, take a moment to notice the American Sign Language (ASL) Interpreters positioned on stage to insure that all of our Clearwater family can enjoy the celebration equally.

The ASL Interpreters at our festival are nationally certified and experienced with expertise in theatrical and performance interpreting. They have all come together to find a way to provide access in a way that furthers the festival's goals of inclusion and environmental education/activism.

The ASL Interpreter's booth is located next to Information, and the Access Hospitality Tent is right next door. Come on by, ask questions, learn, get inspired. Please feel free to talk to the interpreters about our work at the festival and in general at our booth. We are also open to talking as we wander the festival, but beware - we may be on our way to interpret, so you may have to walk along with us rather than stopping us to chat. We hope to serve as access for the Deaf, educational awareness for the hearing, a bridge to other cultures and maybe even a bit of an enhancement to the performances! However you come across us, please don't be shy we love to talk in voice as well as with our hands!

Thank you for respecting these spaces and welcome to our accessible Festival!

THERE'S GEOTHERMAL ENERGY IN YOUR BACKYARD

You may not realize it, but your home is sitting on a free and renewable supply of energy. A WaterFurnace geothermal comfort system taps into the stored solar energy in your own backyard to provide savings of up to 70% on heating, cooling and hot water. That's money in the bank and a smart investment in your family's comfort. Contact your WaterFurnace Territory Manager, Amanda Schneck, to learn how to tap into your buried treasure.
