LETTER from the DIRECTOR

DEAR CLEARWATER COMMUNITY,

Welcome to Clearwater's Great Hudson River Revival 2017.

We're excited to be back at this beautiful park on the banks of OUR Hudson River to celebrate the environment, to celebrate diversity and to continue the important work that Clearwater founders Pete and Toshi Seeger began almost fifty years ago.

This year's Revival has so much to offer: great music and dancing for all ages; rides on tall ships and small boats at the Working Waterfront; the Handcrafter's Village, be a number of other tributes at other stages as well, including one for Buckwheat Zydeco (Dance Stage) featuring his original group. The Legendary IIs Sont Partis Band; Joan Osborne will be singing a set of Bob Dylan's music (Rainbow Stage); and Brother Josephus & The Love Revolution will perform a special New Orleans arrangement of the Beatles' Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band, which celebrated its 50th anniversary on June 2.

As part of the Clearwater Festival's mission to present artists from around the world, these artists will be playing Clearwater for the first time: A-WA - three Israeli sisters that combine Yemenite folk will be "Standing Rock on the Hudson," a 90-minute program of ceremony, speaking and song featuring Native American performers and river activists. They will join together to connect the issues surrounding the Standing Rock Sioux tribe and the damming of the Missouri River to the challenges that the Hudson River faces.

As you walk around the park, take a look at the natural beauty of the river and consider what it would look like without the efforts of Clearwater and others whose mission it is to protect and educate future generations. Enjoy a beautiful two-hour sail on the sloop Clearwater or schooner Mystic Whaler and think about the condition of the Hudson back the late '60s, when Pete began his quest to bring attention to the toxic dump it had become.

The Clearwater will embark from the festival on a historic sail to Washington, D.C., just like Pete did in 1970, to bring a message that clean water is a right, not a privilege for all. There will be a ceremony to wish the Clearwater well on its journey at 5pm on Saturday down by the tall ships at the Working Waterfront.

This festival would not be possible without our nearly 1,100 volunteers and Clearwater staff, many of whom have been with us for more than four decades. From our Site Crew, which builds and takes down the festival to Zero Waste which keeps the park clean by litter picking, recycling and educating, our dedicated volunteers work tirelessly to put on a safe and fun festival and to leave the park in better shape than when we arrive. When you see a volunteer, please do as I do and simply say, "Thank you."

All proceeds go directly to support Clearwater's environmental education and advocacy. We need your help to ensure that Clearwater remains a vibrant organization. Please stop by the Membership Village to become a member, renew your membership, learn about what Clearwater does or make a donation. When it comes to clean air and clean water, we're all in this together.

Thanks for supporting Clearwater. I hope you have a wonderful Revival!

All my best, singing with electronic dance music; the great Puerto Rican plena and bomba group Plena Libre; salsa group Jimmy Bosch Y Su Sexteto del Otro Mundo; indie mambo band Orkesta Mendoza; and Cuban soul and jazz singer Daymé Arocena.

Presenting Native American artists at the Revival is always highly important and we're happy to feature a number of wonderful artists including Joanne Shenandoah, Margo Thunderbird, Martha Redbone and Spirit of Thunderheart. New to the festival this year

Green Living Expo and Marketplace: environmental activism and education at the Discovery, Tideline, Environmental Action Tent and the Activist Area; plus great, wholesome food at the Artisanal Food & Farm Market and Food Court.

The Workshop Stage is a new feature this year that showcases numerous performances and special presentations over the course of the weekend, including tributes to Pete Seeger, Woody Guthrie, Harry Chapin and Oscar Brand. There will

Festival History ABOUT CLEARWATER

Founded by Pete Seeger and inspired by his desire to clean up the Hudson River almost fifty years ago, Clearwater's Great Hudson River Revival (Clearwater Festival) is the country's oldest music and environmental festival. Initially the festival helped raise the funds to build the sloop Clearwater, which has since become a world-renowned floating classroom and the symbol of effective grassroots action. Today, Hudson River Sloop Clearwater is a non-profit 501c3 organization that sails at the forefront of the nation's environmental challenges.

The Clearwater Festival features eight stages with diverse music, dance, storytelling and family-oriented programming as well as a juried Handcrafters' Village, the Green Living Expo, the Working Waterfront with small boat exhibits and rides on small boats and tall ships, the Artisanal Food & Farm Market, environmental education displays and exhibits, and the Circle of Song, where audience participation is the focus. The festival is wheelchair accessible and most stage programming is staffed with American Sign Language interpreters. Reflecting its environmental roots, the festival aims toward zero waste. With over 1,100 volunteers, limited sponsorship, and no beer or liquor sales, Clearwater is the most grassroots festival in the country.

Past artists include: Pete Seeger, Bonnie Raitt, Jackson Browne, Joan Baez, David Crosby, Citizen Cope, Lucinda Williams, Emmylou Harris, Natalie Merchant, Neko Case, Guster, Drive-By Truckers, Indigo Girls, Martin Sexton, Steve Earle, Ani DiFranco, Béla Fleck, Lake Street Dive, Arlo Guthrie, Los Lobos, Angélique Kidjo, Richie Havens, Old Crow Medicine Show, Grace Potter, Susan Tedeschi, Taj Mahal, Billy Bragg, Hot Tuna, Josh Ritter, Punch Brothers, The Mavericks, Dawes, The Lone Bellow, Blind Boys of Alabama, Dizzy Gillespie and thousands more.

All proceeds go directly to support Clearwater's environmental research, education and advocacy efforts to help preserve and protect the Hudson River and its tributaries and communities in the Hudson River Valley - as well as keeping the sloop Clearwater afloat.

The festival has helped over 250,000 children experience the wonders of the Hudson River from aboard the sloop Clearwater. The organization itself has gained worldwide recognition for its leadership in helping to pass landmark environmental laws, both state and federal, including the Clean Water Act. Recently, Clearwater played a key role in the Environmental Protection Agency's decision to remove PCBs from the Hudson River. In 2002, Pete Seeger was named a "Clean Water Hero" for his prominent efforts in the passage of the Clean Water Act. His tireless devotion to working through Clearwater and promoting its message to effectively use the law in prosecuting polluters of America's waterways has made the Clean Water Act perhaps the most successful environmental law in the country.

Today, seeing the success of the Clearwater organization, one cannot imagine these achievements being possible without the Clearwater Festival. The Great Hudson River Revival has helped raise funds and served as a beacon toward raising awareness in support of America's First River. And it all started more than 45 years ago, when it was but the dream of a banjo-picking folksinger.

SLOOP CLEARWATER

"It really seemed a frivolous idea. The world was full of agony; the Vietnam War was heating up. Money was needed for all sorts of life-and-death matters, and here we were, raising money to build a sailboat."

— Pete Seeger

Economsmith

Celebrating America's Environmental Flagship

It was an idea straight out of the movie Field of Dreams, only that movie — starring Kevin Costner as the young Iowa farmer who obeys "the voice" and builds a baseball diamond in the middle of a cornfield — came two decades later. Yet, it was an idea so very simple that it was a stroke of pure genius: If you build it, they will come. Build a boat that is so grand and so extraordinary and that is unlike any that's been sailed on the river in a very, very long time, and people will come down to the banks of the Hudson in droves.

And that's exactly what happened. In the mid-1960s, a group of people got together to build a Hudson River sloop, a replica of the single-masted vessels that carried all manner of cargo and passengers up and down the river during the 18th and 19th centuries. At one time, there were hundreds of sloops in service on the river. However, by the second half of the 20th century, there were none.

But before construction even began, Pete realized the potential of the sloop Clearwater went far beyond reawakening the Hudson Valley's maritime history. In an article published in the New York Times on July 14, 1968, Pete said, "We are giving this boat to the people of the Valley to help them learn to love their river again." And his crazy dream worked! Forty-eight years after Clearwater was launched, people are not just attracted to the river by a magnificent tall ship. They are attracted to the river because the river is, itself, magnificent.

Clearwater doesn't carry the cargo that its predecessors did. During most of its sailing season, which runs from mid-April into early November, the sloop carries school children, introducing them to the river and the concept of environmental stewardship. But a sail on Clearwater isn't just another three-hour boat ride. Passengers help set a small trawl net to catch fish for later study. They help raise the 2,900-square foot mainsail, and they help steer the sloop with its 11-foot-tiller. And it wouldn't be a sail on Clearwater without at least some singing. The organization's award-winning environmental education program has provided a model that has been adopted by many others around the country, from the Chesapeake Bay to the Great Lakes to Puget Sound. The sloop carries approximately 10,000 passengers a year, many of them for their first time aboard a boat of any kind.

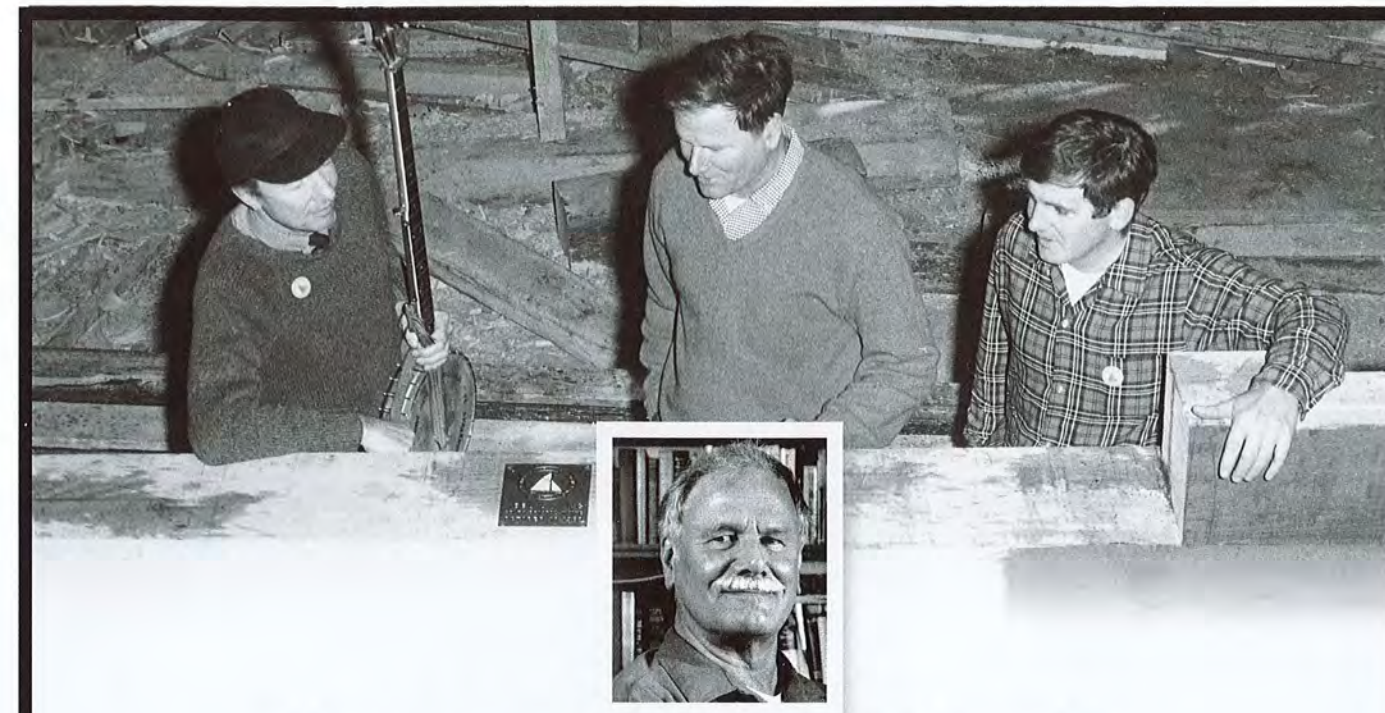

If your only perspective of the Hudson River has been driving over a bridge that crosses it or to walk along the shoreline, you are missing something very special. Come sailing — you'll be glad you did!

2015-2016 SLOOP RESTORATION

During the winter of 2015-16, Clearwater completed its most expensive restoration to date. The entire mid-ship section of the hull below the waterline was rebuilt, including the centerboard trunk, its bedlogs, portions of the keelson, and many planks and frames. This was possible due to a generous grant from the New York State of Parks, Recreation, and Historic Preservation. But it was also made possible by people like you, and we are so very grateful!

Much of the material removed during the 2015-16 restoration dates back to a previous restoration 40 years ago. But we still have work to do above the waterline. Our goal is to continue to preserve the sloop Clearwater in optimal condition, and we hope that you will join us in that effort. Clearwater is the Hudson River's only tall ship, and we must preserve both the sloop, its mission and its message for future generations.

Remembering Cy Hamlin (1918 - 2017)

Cyrus Hamlin, Clearwater's naval architect, knew from a very early age that he wanted to design boats. Largely self-taught, his career spanned many decades. But interestingly enough, Clearwater was his only venture into designing a traditional replica, although he later designed the smaller sloop Woody Guthrie. In the 10 years prior to meeting Pete Seeger, Cy made a reputation for himself as a pioneer and innovator, designing or co-designing "light-displacement" cruising yachts with "reverse sheer" that were built using "glue-strip construction." If these terms don't mean anything to you, that's okay. The point is, Cy was ahead of his time.

But when Cy and Pete first met and began discussing plans to build a replica of a 19th-century Hudson River sloop, Cy was hooked. He had a deep appreciation of maritime history and an appreciation for what Pete was trying to accomplish, and the two became friends. Many years later, Cy described the project as "heaven."

Without any existing examples of a Hudson River sloop, Cy's initial work was less design and mostly research. He even claimed to have gleaned a few details of the sloops from a plastic placemat he picked up at a roadside gift shop. But for over two years, the young organization behind the boat went back and forth as to whether or not to build a "true replica" or work with the United States Coast Guard so that the sloop could carry paying passengers. As late as March 29, 1968 — less than five months before construction would begin — Cy wrote a letter urging the organization's president to build the sloop to meet USCG requirements. If the organization had not taken his advice, it is fairly certain that none of us would be attending a Clearwater Festival this weekend.

But Cy's experience, enthusiasm and wisdom, when it comes to Clearwater, cannot overshadow the importance of interpersonal relationships. His friendship with Pete, undoubtedly, helped to make the project a success. In a 2006 interview, Cy had this to say:

"We had a wonderful time together! I think Pete loved every minute. It was an area he'd never gotten into — building a big wooden vessel, you know, and Harvey Gamage (Clearwater's builder) and South Bristol and all that. To me, there's a triumvirate. There's the client, the architect and the builder. And if you can get through the job with all three thinking the other two are the best guys in the world, that's the way it should be. That's the way it was with the Clearwater."

Pete is famous for having said, "You have to learn to talk to people you disagree with." But isn't it nice when you can talk to people that you do agree with? That's the way it was between Pete and Cy. Thank you, Cy Hamlin. You gave us a gem of a boat!

our supporters that the federal government cannot turn its back on protecting clean water. It must use science, not talking points from polluters, to form environmental policy. And our key institutions, like the EPA, are more important than ever. Climate change, pollution, and toxic waste are serious problems requiring serious responses. ## Freedom to Learn Whether it's on the banks of the river, aboard the historic vessels, or in the classroom, Clearwater's Educators encourage individuals to form their own bond with the Hudson River through personal experience. When young people are given the freedom to learn about the natural world by using their own senses, with their own personal learning styles, and at their own pace, there is a much deeper appreciation and understanding gained. We put the learning in the hands of each student as they get to touch fish, haul on lines, set seine nets, clap or sing along with river songs, and create works of art inspired by the Hudson.

Clearwater's educational philosophy shines through all of our programs and everyone is invited to experience it for themselves by visiting the Tideline and Discovery Education Tents. Come see the live fish, hands-on

Defeating the Rockland Desalination Plant

Kudos also to all the hard work and persistence of the Rockland Water Coalition (RWC), who, in 2015, defeated the proposed desalination plant. The plant would have been built at Rockland ratepayers' expense to sell excess water to New Jersey, with profits going to United Water of NY/Suez. Once it was determined that this energy-intensive facility was not needed, a committee was formed to create a more sustainable plan for Rockland's future water supply. Great work, RWC and all who helped prevent this 10-million-gallon per-day boondoggle, which would have significantly harmed the aquatic habitat in Haverstraw Bay.

human carcinogen and can cause neurological disorders, hormonal disturbances, reproductive disruption, birth defects, and many other health problems.

In 1993, Clearwater's environmental action director, Bridget Barclay, conducted the first Angler Survey, which demonstrated the direct connection between Hudson River PCBs and humans via consumption of contaminated fish – an important Environmental Justice concern. In 2002, the EPA issued a Record of Decision requiring GE to remove an estimated 2.65 million cubic yards of sediment containing 150,000 pounds of PCBs from 40 miles of highly contaminated hotspots in the upper Hudson, north of Albany. Dredging began in Fort Edward in May 2009, when three times more PCB-contaminated sediment than expected was discovered. For five years, GE did an exemplary job of remediating the river. However, approximately 136 acres of PCB-contaminated sediment immediately outside of the area designated for dredging still needs to be remediated to ensure the river's ecosystem recovers without unnecessary delay, and the NYS Canal Corporation still needs to undertake navigational dredging to restore the channel for full use by larger shipping vessels. Clearwater and our sister organizations, as well as US Fish & Wildlife, NOAA, several State agencies, and many municipal officials are calling for a more robust cleanup – one that will allow the river to recover more rapidly and one that we can all be proud of.

Indian Point Scheduled to Close

Given Indian Point's track record of a steam boiler rupture, siren failures, a transformer explosion, ongoing leaks of radioactive material, numerous unplanned closures, degraded baffle-former bolts inside both reactors, and severely overcrowded fuel pools, Clearwater is relieved to know that Indian Point's aging reactors, Units 2 and 3, are scheduled to close in 2020 and 2021, respectively.

Clearwater is actively working with the Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC) to educate municipal officials about the ongoing dangers at Indian Point and the need for safe, fully funded decommissioning. Just as important is developing a just transition plan, to ensure that workers with technical knowledge and onsite experience are retained and that those who will be phased out after this aging nuclear facility closes are trained and placed in jobs in the rapidly emerging renewable energy economy.

Transitioning to Green Energy Economy

Clearwater works with the Mid-Hudson Regional Sustainability

– renewables, energy efficiency, demand response, and microgrids to promote local energy self-reliance. You can help by retrofitting your home or business with green building features, switching to an electric vehicle or fleet, and by installing solar energy generation on your own property or joining a Community Solar System to power it all and help reduce our collective carbon footprint!

Fish in Decline

Sadly, after more than 40 years working to clean up the Hudson, 10 of 13 signature Hudson River fish still remain in steady decline. Causes include loss of habitat and spawning grounds, overfishing and ocean bycatch, low dissolved oxygen from sewage plant discharges, and impingement, entrainment, and thermal pollution from power plants. As guardians of the Hudson River, Clearwater partners with Riverkeeper, Scenic Hudson, the NYS DEC Hudson River Estuary Program and Fisheries Unit, and others to work to reverse this trend and alleviate its causes.

EMERGING THREATS

Preventing and Remediating Contaminated Drinking Water

Even with the progress made by Clearwater, Riverkeeper, Scenic Hudson and the many local groups networking to protect the river and its tributaries in the Hudson River Watershed Alliance (which Clearwater helped to incubate in 2006), we are still discovering serious contamination to drinking water supplies – as was found in Newburgh's Lake Washington Reservoir: perfluorooctanesulfonic acid (PFOS) from runoff from Stewart Air Base, and at Hoosic Falls: perfluorooctanoic acid (PFOA) from industrial sources.

We Don't Need More Fossil Fuel Infrastructure

There is still much to be done regarding the various fossil fuel pipelines, bomb trains, pump stations and proposed power plants that present a challenge to health, safety and the environment. Constant vigilance and ongoing action are needed to place restrictions on the transport by river and rail of Bakken Crude and Tar Sands Oil, which has increased dramatically in the past few years. The Algonquin Pipeline will cross Indian Point right at the southern boundary of the plant, which is located near the intersection of two earthquake faults – the Ramapo and Stamford-Peekskill faults – as noted by Lamont Doherty Earth Observatory. Stop the Algonquin Pipeline Expansion: <https://sape2016.org>

Don't Turn the Hudson into an Industrial Parking Lot

A broad coalition of Hudson River organizations and municipalities are working to prevent the ten newly-proposed anchorages. These could house up to 43 vessels filled with highly-explosive crude oil, which could undo more than 40 years of work remediating and

TAKE A RIDE ON THE HUDSON!
Come on down to the North Field by the river's edge and ride in a small boat, a kayak, or even sail on a tall ship!

Small boats and tall ships are a major part of Clearwater's roots. At the Festival's Working Waterfront you can take a boat out for a row, sail, or paddle on the river. After proper instruction and under safe conditions, all individuals are welcome. Everyone can experience the pleasure of boating on the Hudson River.

"There is nothing – absolutely nothing – half so much worth doing as simply messing about in boats."

– Kenneth Grahame,
"The Wind In The Willows"

VOLUNTEER!

Sienna Wildfield

All of Clearwater's programs rely on the gracious gifts of people. People like you, who come to our festival, people who work in our office, people who work on our boats, people who work on our land-based programs, and all the people who volunteer their time and energy in a myriad of ways. Clearwater's volunteers teach thousands of school kids on the sloop Clearwater and the Mystic Whaler every year. Clearwater's volunteers work to develop relationships with communities and empower them to make environmentally aware decisions. Clearwater's volunteers also come together every year to put on this festival!

This weekend you will see over 1000 volunteers working side-by-side - on committees like Peacekeeping, Zero Waste, Education and Green Living Expo. Every booth you visit, every lifeguard on the shore, every bit of information about the bizarre and wonderful hogchoker is brought to you by Clearwater's volunteer community.

Clearwater presents additional opportunities to become involved throughout the entire year. Here are just some of them:

- Office Volunteers
- Tabling and Outreach
- Fundraising
- Winter Boat Maintenance
- Hosting a House Party
- Onboard Volunteer educators for the sloop Clearwater and the schooner Mystic Whaler
- Clearwater Sloop Clubs (see Sloop Club pages for details)

Clearwater's mission is to preserve and protect the Hudson River and its communities and to inspire, educate, and activate the next generation of environmental leaders. We are a grassroots organization built by individuals donating their time, energy, and skills. Volunteers are the lifeblood of this effort.

To give yourself - without a catch - without a fee - without the thought of "what do I get?" - this is the glory of volunteerism. And, THIS is what we, as humans, get to flaunt... to relish... to expand.

As William James put it, "Act as if what you do makes a difference. It does."

As Dr. Seuss put it, "Unless someone like you cares a whole awful lot, nothing is going to get better. It's not."

If you have not yet joined our volunteer team, please come join us and volunteer this year with Clearwater! Visit clearwater.org, call (845) 265-8080, or email volcoord@clearwater.org.

ACCESS

Augusto F. Menezes

We all know that Pete Seeger was a champion for people who are underrepresented and those who struggle with oppression. The disability community, among the most underrepresented citizens of the country, came forward early in the evolution of the Revival, and Pete and Toshi Seeger made a commitment to provide equal access. As a result, the Clearwater Revival is one of the first and still one of the most accessible outdoor festival venues in the country.

From a practical standpoint, accessibility is provided by establishing Access Areas at the front of all the stages, ASL Interpreters on the main stages, large print, Braille, and audio descriptions of programs and maps, wheelchairs to borrow free of charge, golf cart rides around the festival site, Access volunteers to assist people with disabilities as well as many other amenities.

We also pride ourselves on creating a welcoming, non-judgmental, positive attitude around all kinds of disabilities. For instance, in this entire article, except for this explanation, you won't see the word "handicapped". The word handicapped is generally perceived as a loss of, or lack of, by the disabled community and is negative. We also say that someone is disabled, or a person with a disability, not "special needs", "differently abled", and so forth. Parking, seating areas and port-a-johns are accessible, not handicapped. Words are powerful, and by choosing this kind of positive language, we hope to affect change in a much broader way.

This is why there are large open areas in front of the stages that may seem unused during some performances. By providing this space at the front of the stages, people with disabilities and their families are welcome and don't have to try and move around the patchwork of blankets and chairs in the audience area. Also, unlike able-bodied people, people with disabilities often cannot easily move their bodies to get a better view of the performer. We keep these areas clear and open, even when there doesn't seem to be a great need, because it's much easier for everyone to have the space established rather than asking able-bodied audience members to move later in the day.

Clearwater loves and celebrates cultural diversity. One of the cultures celebrated here in the midst of song and sunshine is the deaf culture and its community. While enjoying the high-quality performances you will encounter at each of our stages, take a moment to notice the American Sign Language (ASL) Interpreters positioned on stage to insure that all of our Clearwater family can enjoy the celebration equally.

The ASL Interpreters at our festival are nationally certified and experienced with expertise in theatrical and performance interpreting. They have all come together to find a way to provide access in a way that furthers the festival's goals of inclusion and environmental education/activism.

The ASL Interpreter's booth is located next to Information, and the Access Hospitality Tent is right next door. Come on by, ask questions, learn, get inspired. Please feel free to talk to the interpreters about our work at the Revival and in general at our booth. We are also open to talking as we wander the festival, but beware - we may be on our way to interpret, so you may have to walk along with us rather than stopping us to chat. We hope to serve as access for the deaf, educational awareness for the hearing, a bridge to other cultures and maybe even a bit of an enhancement to the performances! However you come across us, please don't be shy. We love to talk in voice as well as with our hands!

Thank you for respecting these spaces and welcome to our accessible festival!

ACTIVIST AREA

"Participation, that's what going to save the human race!"

- Pete Seeger

If there was ever a time to come together and organize it is now. Signing petitions is not enough. Calling or emailing representatives is not enough. Voting is not enough. Praying is not enough. At this truly critical time in our country and in our world, it is not the time to mourn but to organize. We must do! Only unity and love can overcome injustice. We ask you to visit booths in the Activist Area and talk to those who volunteer their time and give their energies to addressing issues that affect us all. Activists do the work and the rest of the world benefits. The world needs your active participation. The organizations that are participating address an amazing number of issues that should be a concern to all of us. They are connected with issues about the quality of life for all Americans and peoples of the world. Just take a look at them and please consider getting involved. Some of the issues addressed are civil rights, animal rights, women's issues, health issues, religious freedoms, GLBT rights, immigrant issues, environmental abuse, global warming, gun issues, human rights, the militarization of our police forces, criminal justice issues, Native American issues, nuclear power issues, anti-war concerns, marriage equality, and a whole lot more.

Ceremony, Speaking, and Song Hosted by Storyteller/Singer Evan Pritchard. Featured artists include: long-time Shinnecock activist/singer Margo Thunderbird, multi-instrumentalist David Amram, Evan Pritchard (Mi'kmaq), Quiltman, Joan Henry (Cherokee/Apache/Arawak), Matoaka Little Eagle (Tewa, Apache, Chickahominy), Shannon Rothenberger Flynn (Ojibwe/Bear Clan descent), Tim Trew (Water Protector), singer-songwriter Jay Mankita, John Cronin III (Founding Riverkeeper), Fidel Moreno (Huichol/ChiChimeca/Mexican-American), Etaoqua (Tunxis) and singer-songwriter Paul McMahon. ACCESS PROTOCOL AND SERVICES

Marked areas close to the fronts of stages are reserved for people with disabilities in wheelchairs and hard of hearing to better see sign language interpreters on stage. Braille, large-print programs, and wheelchairs for short-term use are available at the Access Hospitality Tent. Accessible and extra-large accessible toilet stalls are located throughout the site, including one directly in front of First Aid.

INFORMATION

Message board, Lost and Found (objects and people), and information on area service (gas, markets, restaurants, train schedules) can be found in the information booth adjacent to the Hudson Stage near the Main Entrance.

DRINK CLEARWATER

The festival will provide two options:
 • TAP WATER: Fill your own containers. Clearwater is selling reusable bottles, which you can fill at the Tap Water Station, located by the marketplace at the building.
 • BOTTLED ICED WATER: Sold at stands around the site.

ZERO WASTE / RECYCLE

Use containers at our Zero Waste stations located throughout the festival grounds for compostables, glass, plastic bottles and cans.

POISON IVY

Croton Point Park is home to many wonderful plant species, and some, like poison ivy, which can be harmful to humans. PLEASE BE CAREFUL. Remember: "Leaflets three, let them be."

LOST CHILD / EMERGENCIES

Please speak to your children about a plan in case they get lost. In case of a lost child or an emergency, visit Communications (see site map for location).

BABY CARE CABANA

A private place to feed your baby by the Activist Area.

If you have a first aid emergency, please tell one of our "Peacekeepers".

ZERO WASTE

The Clearwater Festival serves thousands of people, including audience, volunteers, staff and artists. From the very beginning over 40 years ago, our festival has taken responsibility for the waste that we generate. We ask that you help us work toward zero waste by Refusing what you don't need, Reusing when possible, and Recycling at our sorting stations located around the site. To make it easier, food vendors will be offering products on compostable or recyclable serviceware. If you have questions, please ask the vendor or one of our helpful Zero Waste volunteers!

Augusto F. Menezes

Each sorting station includes three bins:

COMPOST

- All food scraps
- Paper plates, waxed paper, paper napkins, wooden skewers, and chopsticks
- Compostable plastics (#7 PLA utensils, cups, and straws)

We send our materials to Ulster County Resource Recovery Agency, a professional composting facility, so we can accept many things not compostable at home.

RECYCLING

- Plastics (#1-7, excluding styrofoam, plastic bags, plastic film, and compostables)
- Glass
- Metal
- Cartons (new for 2017 - excluding paper cups, yogurt pouches)

Audience recyclables are sent to Westchester County's facility, so we go by the "Rules of Their House," as are described in the above bullets. This can vary in different locations. Unmarked plastics and plastic bags still go in the trash.

TRASH

We ask that you only dispose of true trash. Please double check where the product came from on the festival grounds. If it's from the food court or any food vendor, it is compostable or recyclable. The trash bin is the last resort.

ZERO WASTE PROGRESS

Over the past 8 festivals, we have been moving toward zero waste. This means that every year we have increased the percentage of festival-generated materials recovered through composting and recycling, thus reducing the amount of materials added to the waste stream and hauled for burning at the county incinerator in Peekskill, NY. Festival-generated compostables are sent to Ulster County Resource Recovery Agency in Kingston, NY.

In 2015, Clearwater Festival retrieved the weights of material collected during the festival and established percentages for each of the following categories:

- Compost (organics) - 6.97 tons (44%)
- Recycling - 5.91 tons (37%)
- Trash - 2.97 tons (19%)

When combined, the Compost and Recycling total for 2015 collectively weighed 12.88 tons of diverted material, or 81% of our waste stream!

This would not be possible without your help. We rely on everyone at the festival to chip in by taking an extra moment every time you throw something away. Together we can make this work.

Remember to Reduce the amount you use, use Reusable items, and, when buying, buy items made from Recycled materials. Bring your travel mug or water bottle with you to stay hydrated. A spork or reusable silverware is small and can easily tuck away in a pocket when not in use. Be creative, and help support our zero waste efforts.

Questions?

Our festival Zero Waste committee has trained volunteers to help you decide where your materials can be deposited. Please ask them to help you sort compostables and recyclables. They are present at each sorting station in the food court and at various locations around the festival grounds.

The Clearwater Festival's efforts toward zero waste are supported by the following entities:

- EcoSafe
- Suburban Carting
- Ulster County Resource Recovery Agency
- Westchester County Parks Department

FESTIVAL PERFORMERS

A-WA A-WA is comprised of 3 sisters: Tair, Liron & Tagel Haim, who grew up in the small desert village of Shaharut, Israel. With unique magical voices and lots of natural groove, the sisters combine Yemenite folk singing with electronic dance music.

Allison McDermott Allison McDermott is a circus artist based in Middletown, CT. She is a graduate of the New England Center for Circus Arts' Professional Track program and is currently performing, coaching and creating circus throughout the New England region.

Abbie Gardner The fiery Dobro player Abbie Gardner has been touring solo and with Red Molly for over a decade performing her award-winning songs, both gritty and sweet, backed by formidable slide guitar licks.

Annie Patterson & Peter Blood Annie & Peter created the folksong bible Rise Up Singing and its sequel Rise Again. Peter edited Pete Seeger's autobiography, Where Have All the Flowers Gone. Annie is an accomplished folk performer & jazz vocalist. Visit them at their vendor table.

Alan McClintock Alan McClintock shares thoughtfully told stories from his native Albany, NY, and world folktales. Alan has been featured at the Dance Flurry Festival, New York State Museum, Schoharie Crossing, Riverway Storytelling Festival, Clearwater Festival, Story Sundays, and the 2006 Albany History Fair.

Arlo Guthrie The son of Woody Guthrie, Arlo was born with a guitar in one hand and a harmonica in the other. Guthrie's career exploded in 1967 with the release of "Alice's Restaurant", which helped renew commitment among the '60s generation to social consciousness and activism.

Alejandro Escovedo The renowned and distinguished singer-songwriter's newest album Burn Something Beautiful is a celebration of the rock and roll life, a contemplation on mortality, and the healing power of love. The album connects repeatedly with Escovedo's soulful heart and voice at its core.

Betty & The Baby Boomers The Boomers' take on the folk genre is suggested in a review from Sing Out!, which described the group as "a refreshing reminder of the halcyon days of American folk music" and as "an enthusiastic testament to the sheer joy of singing and playing music."

FESTIVAL PERFORMERS

The Barr Brothers Since releasing their first album in 2011, this prolific quartet have been performing non-stop here and abroad. Warm and comforting, The Barr Brothers' bluesy folk is full of surprises, such as a background harp bringing dreamy lightness to the compositions.

Daymé Arocena Daymé Arocena is a skillful, charismatic presence in Cuban music. She has become one of the most exciting Cuban contemporary artists through her devotion to Afro-Cuban culture and ability to absorb music of any kind, particularly jazz and Cuban neo-soul.

Brother Josephus and the Love Revolution BroJo whips up a gumbo of New Orleans street sounds, old school rock and soul, and what can only be described as "secular" gospel music. Stomp your feet and join the parade as the Love Revolution fills the air with feel-good vibes.

The DonJuans Grammy-winning singer/songwriter duo The DonJuans - Don Henry & Jon Vezner. Their songs have been recorded by a multitude of artists including Janis Ian, Ray Charles, John Mellencamp, and Miranda Lambert, to name a few. The DonJuans bring an impressive array of songs, experience, and gifted musicianship.

Children at the Well The Children at the Well storytelling program helps young people tap into the richness of stories from their traditions to strengthen their development of voice. It increases empathy and an appreciation for diversity in the communities they touch.

Adult and youth ensembles promote community service by performing at nursing homes, charity events and libraries.

Valerie June Percolating somewhere between Dolly Parton and Billie Holiday, June has a stop-you-dead-in-your-tracks voice, which grips your imagination and paints her Southern portraits in vivid detail. As a songwriter she's willing and able to blur the lines between genres and eras of sound.

Zebediah Galipeau They say Zebediah Galipeau was born at the favor of the Muses, or maybe he sold his soul to pay for his various talents. Either way, this jack-of-all-trades performer has been placed on this planet to entertain, and entertain he shall.

SLOOP CLUBS

Sloop Clubs support knowledge and love of the river through concerts, festival, lectures, publications, potluck dinners, picnics and sailing programs. As affiliates of Hudson River Sloop Clearwater, Inc., they are dedicated to carrying out the organization's purposes in their own locations through education, advocacy and celebration. Each club has its own character and emphasis - raising public awareness of the river as a natural and recreational resource; promoting sound ecological practices; educating about watershed ecology, responsible, and irresponsible uses of natural resources; and methods of remediation for existing problems.

The Sloop Club Congress comprises local sloop clubs to discuss the means to support Clearwater's mission. We meet during the Clearwater Festival on Sunday morning at the Sloop Club tent and at Clearwater's Annual Meeting in the fall.

BEACON SLOOP CLUB

(Mid-Hudson Valley)

The Beacon Sloop Club holds meetings the first Friday of each month and offers free sails on the Ferry Sloop Woody Guthrie each weeknight, May-October. For reservations call 845-297-7697. The Beacon Sloop Club holds three major educational and fundraising festivals each year at the Beacon waterfront or park, and offers spring sailing classes for the public, free environmental lectures, cooperative harbor moorings and docks, and a public boat ramp adjacent to the clubhouse. The Beacon Sloop Club partners with the City of Beacon and Scenic Hudson to responsibly develop the waterfront.
